The election is less than four weeks off now. Want you be glad when it is over?

Four weeks from today we will all know who is to be the next President.

The Bulgarians must have forgotten what a hard time Russia had in her attempt to reach Constantinople with her armies.

It looks like Roosevelt will have to "rush into print" again, no matter how much he dislikes it—as every one knows.

If Son-in-Law Nick did not say exactly that in his Rock Island speech, he said enough to convince Papa-in-Law Roosevelt that he had better come down from the stump.

Roosevelt is bringing down such big game as leader of the Republican campaign that lion hunting in Africa will seem tame sport.

We are glad to see that the Charlotte Chronicle agrees with the Star that Presidents and Governors should be non-partisan in political campaigns.

As that Atlanta bride has been taken to Europe by her mother we suppose the groom will go back to chauffeuring, but hardly for his former employer.

We are glad to learn that R. M. Phillips has acquired an interest in the Lee County Times and has again become a member of the newspaper fraternity.

The manner of denying that Roosevelt is about to take the stump in behalf of Taft would indicate that he will do so before the campaign is over.

Wonder if Mr. Daniels thinks he is going to get any admissions out of Attorney General Bonapart, which will be damaging to the Republicaff cause?

The Democratic speakers are surely warming things up in this State. It is well that it is so, for the Democrats want a big majority and not a bare plurality.

An exchange thinks that Son-in-Law Nick is in danger of being laid across that stump, from which he has been revealing White House secrets, and paddled with the big stick.

The people of Spartanburg are searching for the negro janitor of one of the public schools of that city who attempted to assault one of the teachers while the latter was practicing her music in one of the school rooms. Everybody knows what will happen to him if he is caught.

CALENDAR REVISED

Arrangement Heretofore Made by Bar Not [illegible] in The Superio[illegible]

Library of Congress

THE SESSION YESTERDAY

Only One Unimportant Case Tried During Day—Entries Made in Several Other Suits—Other Proceedings.

With the trial docket as previously arranged, after the continuance of the important suit of Gaston D. Phares & Co., against the Clarendon Water Work Company on Monday, the Superior Court yesterday suddenly found itself in the attitude of nothing to do and a total rearrangements of the calendar was ordered by Judge Lyon in order that the work of the court might go on.

After a brief session during the morning at which only one unimportant case was tried, the bar met in the court room yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and proceeded to set the cases for trial so that there will be at least something to do each day for the remainder of the term. The case disposed of yesterday was that of J. S. Sellers against J. J. Adkins, involving the title to some land, in which the plaintiff was awarded a verdict of $90. Herbert McClammy, Esq., represented the plaintiff and Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy, the defendant. Upon announcement of the verdict the defendant moved for a new trial for errors in the admission of testimony, the exclusion of other testimony, an error in the charge and a refusal of instructions asked for by the defendant. The motion having been overruled, defendant appealed to the Supreme Court and each side was granted 30 days to arrange same. Entries in other cases on the docket were made during the day as follows:

Thos. H. Wright against John E. Platt, time allowed to file answer.

Julia Austin and others against C. D. Gore, set for first case on first day of next civil term.

Z. W. Whitehead against A. C. L. Railroad Co., set for trial Oct. 12th.

The rearrangement of the calendar was effected during the afternoon for the remainder of the term as follows:

Wednesday, Oct. 7th—Jas H. Scull & Co., against A. C. L. Railroad Company; Sadie Cowan against T. F. Bagley; Hydraulic Brick Co., against Lena Wessell; Robertson Mfg. Co., against J. A. Gregory.

Thursday—Herbst against Noble, Wilmington Furniture Co., against W. T. Mercer; J. A. Taylor against C. S. Garrell.

Friday—H. Beaumister against McLamb, D. Newman &Son against A. C. L., S. L. Smith & Son against S. A. L. J. B. Hand against Sampson Isler. Bordeaux against Walton.

Saturday—Hannah Box Shook Co., against Lena Wessell. Sloan & Sweeney against Etta Hart, Griffith Brothers against W. A. Wilson, Jr., R. T. Austin against McDiarmid.

Monday, Oct. 12—Oliver Smith Co., against Griffin, D. M. Gregg against A. C. L., Walter Sneeden against Ralph Kennedy, J. A. Burriss against City of Wilmington, Smith and others against Rhoe and others.

Tuesday, 13th—J. H. Chasson against S. E. Jones, Johnson Bowen against Benj. J. Moore, J. A. Taylor against A. P. Thomas.

Wednesday, Oct. 14th—Frank Jones against Catherine Halloway, Mellie Baldwin against W. T. Sears Co., C. T. D. Company against L. Kepinski, J. W. Winders, A. F. Bautro and others, Kenan against City of Wilmington, Wessell against Little River Steamboat Co.

Thursday, 15th—C. D. T. Company against A. F. Bautro, three cases, Joseph Moody against Joseph Berbary, Cook Horner against Griffith Brothers, W. J. Reaves against W. B. Simmons, Rodyear against J. C. Shepard.

It will be seen that the only cases of public interest are those of Capt. Burriss against the city in which the plaintiff is asking damages for having fallen into an excavation near his home several years ago, and Kenan against City of Wilmington, which involves the title to the old city rock quarry and royalties on rock mined therefrom for which, however the city is fuly idemnified.

OPENING AT POLVOGT'S

Brilliant Display of Fall and Winter Millinery and Other Goods at Pretty Front Street Dry Goods Establishment.

Surpassingly beautiful, charming for its very elegance and elaborate for the variety and exclusiveness of the shapes and styles on exhibition, the annual Fall and Winter opening of millinery and dress goods at the leading establishment, served to attract throngs of ladies, representing the wealth and refinement of the city, to the pretty store of the C. W. Polvogt Company, on North Front street yesterday.

The rush began with the opening of the store in the morning and continued until the close in the early evening. Hundreds of expressions of admiration from those who lingered at the pretty counters and show cases yesterday is the surest evidence that the opening was a success in every particular. The millinery department in the rear balcony of the store was of course, the centre of attraction, though it was decidedly "opening day," all over the store, each department having had a pretty display of bright new goods. Miss Alice Peacock is the head milliner and she is ably assisted by Miss Beatrice Grubbs, while Mrs. Bessie Felton and Miss Lillian Presson are in charge of the salesroom. The millinery department this season is most attractively decorated, the overhead ceiling being covered with autumn leaves and bunches of delicious looking grapes which cling quite natural like from the vine-clad effect. Palms and other foliage effects are used to fine advantage in the room and the counters beneath in their array of costly and beautiful hats are simply a dream of beauty.

The season's style in hats and trimming as reflected in the Polvogt stock are certainly pretty and feminine. The Empire hat is one of the season's most attractive offerings and the Directoire is equally a favorite. Then there is the French sailor, the turban, and quite a number of others that need to be seen to be admired. Color runs riot in the favorites of the season. There is the taupe, the Canaurd blue, London smoke, black and white. Favorite trimmings are the silks and satins, scratch felts and the beaver. To the feminine mind, words can hardly convey an accurate description of all the styles and shapes that are being shown as the season's latest at the Polvogt Company's this Fall. A visit to the store will be appreciated by Mr. Polvogt and the ladies in charge and it is sufficient merely to say that the opening will continue through today. The variety is large and it would seem from expressions heard in the store and on the street that Mr. Polvogt had set a very high standard for future years in this season's exhibition of what is correct and fashionable.

The coat suit department of the store in charge of Mrs. Mary Yopp, is showing an exceedingly attractive line of goods this year. The styles have experienced an entire change during the Summer and the garments now on display are of the newest and latest.

The carpet department in charge of Mr. E. W. Fonveille is also showing a particularly pretty line this season and some large contracts are being filled both in and out of the city.

The dress goods department in charge of Mr. A. L. Price was an inviting place for the ladies yesterday. A beautiful line of fabrics is being shown. The prevailing colors seem to be green, London smoke, brown and the wines. Cheviots, herring bone stripes, plaids, serges, chevron stripes and broadcloths seem especially strong this year.

Any account of the opening, however inadequate, would be incomplete without a reference to the show windows of the pretty store, which are attracting much attention not only by those who enter but by pedestrians on the street. The display was never prettier or more complete. This work as well as the general decorations of the store were planned and executed by Mr. Price, who has decided talent in this art.

Upholsters Walked Out.

Because of some dissatisfaction between themselves and their foreman, Mr. Z. E. Murrell, seven men comprising the force in the upholstering department of the Coast Line shops of this city, are reported to have walked out last Thursday and their places have not since been filled. It is stated that the men will likely not return to work through the intervention of any committee which they might appoint to confer with the higher officials of the road.

Revival Grows in Interest.

The series of revival meetings being held at Trinity Methodist church continue in interest, and another large congregation heard an able sermon by Rev. W. E. Hocutt last evening, his text being "The First Revival in the Christian Church." Much interest was manifested spirtually and a number went to the altar for reconsecration of life. Services will be held this evening at 8 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 6.—There was another big gathering of fans at the Polo grounds today and they had an anxious time during the first five innings. Ferguson held his old clubmates well in hand up to the sixth inning, when they scored one run and followed up with three more in the seventh. Wiltse was very effective, but the visitors saved a shut out through Seymour's muff of Ferguson's fly and the Boston twirler got home on a double to left center by Batts after Becker had beaten out a nicely played bunt.

Protest Decided.

Cincinnati, Oct 6.—The directors of the National League this afternoon officially announced their decision in the matter of the protested game between New York and Chicago of September 23rd, holding that the game was a tie and that it could be played off if the condition of the pennant called for such a game, and the New York management requested that it be played over again. The game will be played off in New York on Thursday, October 8th.

In the decision Percy C. Pulliam of the National League was sustained both in holding that the game of the 23rd was a tie, and in his further decision against the Chicago claim of a forfeited game on the following day. It was held that the protest of Chicago in regard to the first game had prevented the playing of the second, the directors in that particular confirming the decision of Mr. Pulliam. After the decision was announced Mr. Ebbetts who was presiding was asked whether it was optional with the clubs about playing the game or whether later developments in the way of a victory for Boston over New York in the present series would affect the decision. He answered emphatically that the decision was mandatory and that later conditions would be considered when they arose.

President Murphy of the Chicago club was present during the reading of the decision. At its conclusion he refused to make any statement. President John T. Brush of the New York club left the city for New York without waiting for the announcement of the decision.

American League Games.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—What is said to be the closest pennant race ever waged by American League baseball clubs came to an end in this city, when Detroit, champions of 1907, captured the emblem for another year by defeating Chicago 7 to 0. Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago struggled all season for first place, never being far from each other in the percentage table and not until today could the winner be picked. St. Louis put Cleveland out of the race yesterday. Chicago's fight has been an up-hill one, but manager Jones never despaired until the last Chicago player had been retired today. Detroit's victory was close and decisive. Jones used three pitchers—White, Walsh and Smith, but could not subdue the Detroits. Donavan pitched the kind of ball that will win almost any game. His team mates, coming first to bat, gave him confidence in the initial inning by knocking White out of the box, and putting four runs across the plate. Donavan's manner was confident as he faced the Chicago batsmen, and inning after inning he proceeded to make first base a very north pole of unattainability for his opponents. Two hits in different innings were all that Chicago could garner, and a local runner perched on second base just once. That was the only time that Chicago made even the wraith of a threat.

Donovan, casually observing in the sixth inning with Chicagoans on first and second bases had an unfamiliar appearance, straight way struck out Captain Jones and the gigantic Isbell

NOW FOR THE ELKSFEST

Enthusiastic Meeting of Committees at Temple Last Night—Elks' Society Circus to be Big Feature. Other Notes.

An enthusiastic meeting of nearly all the committees having in charge the arrangements for the big Elksfest or Fall Festival in Wilmington the first week in November was held last night with Director Buckley in the Temple, on North Front street. The arrangements are now well under way and unless all signs belie the true situation of the affair is going to be a great success.

Probably one of the biggest features of the week will be the Elks' Society Circus, which will take place on Wednesday, the fourth, at 3 P. M. For this Director Buckley yetserday secured one of the largest tents in New York and this will be shipped at once with all necessary paraphernalia. This performance of the circus will follow a gigantic street pageant which will move or be moved along the streets early in the afternoon. The mounted police and Grand Marshal T. B. Carroll and aides will head the procession. Then will follow a gorgeous gold and white chariot for the circus officials, a calvacade of riders in Colonial costume, open cage containing the largest lion in captivity; group of komikal kusses kommonly kalled klowns, the ten merry widows, Gaston and Alphonse, the gold dust twins and other characters famed in story and song, Ben Hur, Ben Him and a number of other ancient celebrities; the Elks' Hayseed Band,. Side Show. Freaks, siamese twins, etc., then there will be every other conceivable freak and fool in captivity to make the fun for the admiring throngs as the parade passes. There will be a decorated section and the Elks' Water Wagon with life raft and boat in the rear to rescue any who may fall from their exalted station. Then there will be a section for the merchants' floats and last but not least a real calliope will bring up the rear. In other words, a complete circus will be given and the parade will be a faithful index of what will be seen on the inside of the big tent.

Director Buckley says that he is very much encouraged with the outlook and is working night and day to win. Members of the lodge have put their shoulders to the wheel to assist him and there is no such word as "fail" in the voculbulary of lks when it comes to a show down before the public. Several thousand litle folders giving the programme for each day were gotten out by the advertising committee yesterday and these are bound to attract attention. As these folders indicate there will be "Something Doing Every Minute but not the Same old Doings.'"

OFFICER HOLT'S FUNERAL

Beloved Member of Police Force Buried at Masonboro Yesterday.

The members of the local police force paid striking tribute to the memory of Officer George R. Holt, by attending the last sad rites in a body yesterday afternoon, and accompanying the procession in a line of march as far as Market and Seventeenth streets, where the force formed in double line through which the procession passed and proceeded to Masonboro Sound, where the remains were interred.

Besides the police department a large concourse of other friends attended the funeral, which was conducted at 2:30 o'clock from the home No. 619 South Sixth street, by Rev. G. A. Martin, pastor of Southside Baptist Church, assisted by Adjutant James Yates, of the Salvation Army.

Many beautiful floral tributes were laid on the casket by friends who were acquainted with him in life and admired his integrity and honor. The pall-bearers were composed of members of the police department and fellow-associates as follows: Messrs J. T. Smith, M. P. Newton, I. F. Huggins, J. R. Minshew, W. C. Moore and C. E. Wood.

PRETTY HOME MARRIAGE

Mrs. Nora Bordeaux Becomes Bride of Mr. Charles Nurnberger.

A pretty marriage was celebrated last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. L. Sykes, No. 401 South Sixth street, when her daughter Mrs. Nora L. Bordeaux was married to Mr. Charles F. Nurnberger, two popular young people of this city.

The home was prettily decorated for the happy nuptials and a large concourse of admiring friends were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. A. Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. The bride and groom were extended the happiest felicitations by the many in attendance. Mr. Nurnberger holds the responsible position of shipping clerk for Swift & Co., and the happy couple will reside at No. 401 South Sixth street, where they will be pleased to greet their many friends.

Presbytery Meets Today.

The Fall meeting of Wilmington Presbytery will convene today at Faison, N. C., with Rev. J. E. L. Winecoff as moderator. The sessions will continue through Friday. Wilmington pastors and ruling elders will leave this morning to attend the sessions.

THE ALDERMEN MEET

Many Routine and Unimportant Business Matters Considered By Board Last Night.

IN SESSION TWO HOURS

Opposed to Renewing Lease of Academy of Music After Next Year. Macomber's Ditch Drainage. Elksfest Permit—Notes.

The Board of Aldermen was in session a little over two hours last night, but aside from going on record as opposed to leasing the Academy of Music for another term at the expiration of the present lease, which means a new and handsome theatre for Wilmington, formally granting permission for the Elksfest for the wek of November 2nd, and hearing the reports of all departments for the past month, very little business of general interest was transacted.

The Board was called to order at 8 o'clock, Mayor Springer presiding and Aldermen Karr, Rathjen, O'Brien, Wood, Ellis, Northrop, French and King in attendance; also City Clerk and Treasurer Fowler, City Attorney Bellamy and other department officers. Minutes of preceding meetings were read and approved.

Rev. Charles F. Whitlock, pastor of Brooklyn Baptist church, was introduced by Alderman J. A. Karr and addressed the Board with a request that the city extend the cement sidewalk around the house of worship of his congregation. Mr. Karr moved that the sidewalk be so extended, the Board of Audit and Finance concurring. Mr. Northrop asked for the legal aspect of such action and City Attorney Bellamy explained that the city could lay the sidewalk and charge the same to the church, then use whatever means desired to collect this amount, the tacit understanding being that no demand would be made for payment. The matter was referred to the Streets and Wharves Committee for conference with the Board of Audit and Finance.

After reading the usual monthly reports, standing committees were called. Alderman O'Brien, reporting for the Finance Committee, read a letter from Mr. A. B. Skelding, general manager of the Tidewater Power Company, sustaining his position in regard to the tender of a note for the balance on payment of the cost of a fill at Front and Wright streets. This brought up again the question of whether or not the city should accept $700 in lieu of certain work to be performed by the Tidewater Power Company as a condition to its franchise for the South Wilmington line. The Aldermen balked at the appearance of accepting $700 for a franchise, whereas the franchise was given to the company at the time and the company had agreed to join the city in making the fill at Front and Wright streets. The Clerk and Treasurer was instructed to accept the $700 with interest and give a receipt for the same in full in lieu of the work the company had agreed to join the city in doing at Front and Wright streets.

Alderman French, of the Police Committee, reported very feelingly the death of Officer Geo. R. Holt, to whom he and the Mayor paid a fine tribute. The Mayor hoped that the record of Officer Holt would prove an incentive to his fellow members in the Department. The City Clerk and Treasurer was directed to prepare and send to the family a suitable expression of the sympathy felt by the Board.

Chairman French, of the Fire Committee, reported that the new engine would reach the city about the 15th Mr. French speaking of the recent fire in the southern part of the city, explained the disarrangement of the alarm system and the difficulty of fighting fire in that section.

Mr. French, reporting for the Public Building Committee, read a statement from the clerk of the Board of Audit and Finance, showing that during the past five years the city had paid on account of the academy of Music as repairs and excess cost of insurance the sum of $6,355.08 while the revenues for the five years had only been $7,000. This was clearly a losing proposition and as the room would son be needed for the street and water commissions of the city, he would advocate closing up the house altogether at the expiration of the present lease June 1st., 1909. Action should be taken now, so that other arrangements might be made by the present lessees before the season of 1908-10. The Board went on record as opposing a re-lease of the opera house after this year, the vote being unanimous. This means that before another season, Wilmington will have a new and more commodious theatre than ever, Mr. S. A. Schloss having held the property on Second street, near Princess, with this in view for several years.

Chairman Northrop reported that practically all the new lights had been installed. Alderman O'Brien called attention to Third and Meares, which Mr. Northrop said would be attended

POLITICAL SITUATION IN NEW YORK.

In its resume of the political situation in New York State the Herald inclines to the belief that Taft will secure the State's electoral vote and that Chanler's chances of success are better than Hughes'. This forecast is made after thorough canvass of the whole State by the Herald's representatives. It says both parties are short of money and for that reason the campaign work is far behind; therefore, future developments may produce material changes in situation. From the Herald's article on this subject in its issue of last Sunday we take the following:

"Mr. Taft, according to all surface indications, at present holds New York State. It will apparently require a political convulsion or revolution in the remaining weeks of the campaign to dislodge him from his position.

"Mr. Chanler's chances now seem superior to those of Mr. Hughes. But in the opinion of many political observers the full strength of the opposition to the present Governor developed early in the campaign. They declare it is now at flood tide and is likely to recede during the coming month.

"The preceding paragraphs sum up the situation as The Herald finds it after a careful preliminary canvass of the entire State.

"Skilled correspondents and competent political observers familiar with the localities to which they were assigned have gone through the counties of the State and have obtained the views of the best posted politicians of both parties on the situation in their localities. These views and the personal investigations of the correspondents of the unusual conditions here and there present as accurate a summary as can be had of the political outlook at this moment.

"There are not likely to be any heavy pluralities either way. The most sanguine Republicans do not expect Mr. Taft to carry the State by more than fifty thousand. Where a plurality is claimed for Mr. Hughes the figures are placed very low. The Democrats hope to elect Mr. Chanler by fifty thousand, and some of them figure out a small plurality for Mr. Bryan.

"So far as the national ticket is concerned, there is no evidence of unpopular resentment at the steam roller methods by which Mr. Taft's nomination was secured. Mr. Roosevelt's interest in Taft's success and his aggressive championship of the Republican candidate have offended many, but have also brought Mr. Taft some support.

"The panic has hurt the Republicans with the workingmen and with retail business men. On the other hand, the general fear that Mr. Bryan's election might precipitate another crisis or delay the return of prosperity will give Mr. Taft many votes.

"There is marked tendency on the part of gold Democrats and Cleveland Democrats, who have been wandering in the wilderness since 1896, to return to the fold. This is especially true of men who were active in politics. They see, as The Herald has pointed out, that with the United States Senate strongly Republican for some years to come it will be impossible for Mr. Bryan to get any of his more radical ideas enacted into law."

RECOGNITION OF THE SOUTH.

The Washington Herald quotes Hon. Z. V. Walser, who was in the national capital a few days ago, as saying that the Republican party had always recognized the South more than the Democratic in the matter of appointments to Cabinet and other important positions.

The Charlotte Observer takes up Mr. Walser on his statement and shows how incorrect it is. It names seven men from the South who have been appointed to Cabinet positions by Republican Presidents, three to the Supreme Court and one as minister to Persia and then to Greece. It says no other men from the South have been appointed to offices of that class during the many years that party has been in power. Against this the Observer places, during the eight years of Cleveland's two administrations the following appointments of Southern men by him, which, it says, is but a partial list furnished in large part from memory:

"Garland, of Arkansas, Attorney General; Herbert, of Alabama, Secretary of the Navy; Bayard, of Deleware, Secretary of State; Lamar, of Mississippi, Secretary of the Interior; Smith, of Georgia, Secretary of the Interior; Francis, of Missouri, Secretary of the Interior; Carlisle, of Kentucky, Secretary of the Treasury; Wilson, of West Virginia, Postmaster General; Lamar, of Mississippi, and White, of Louisiana, Justice of the Supreme Court, American ministers: Bayard, of Deleware, to England; Eustis, of Louisiana, to France; Breckinridge, of Arkansas, to Russia; Keiley of Virginia, to Italy; Alexander, Jarvis and Ransom, all of North Carolina, to Greece, Brazil and Mexico, respectively."

Mr. Walser should pick his flint and come again in his effort to show why the South should be Republican; but were he to do so he would be as unsuccessful as in the one above referred to, for neither he nor anyone else can give any reasons which would convince the people of the South that it would be better for their States to be under control of the Republican party or for them to give their electoral votes to the nominee of that party.

DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

There should be a Democratic club formed in every voting precinct in the State. Such clubs could do a great deal in the way of getting members of the party interested in the campaign and in bringing out the full vote of the party on election day.

A circular on this subject has been sent out from Democratic national headquarters, making sugestions as to the work that should be done by such clubs. Among them are such as these: There should be a large campaign committee as well as committees on membership and finance. Every member of the club should be assigned to duty on some committee as far as is practicable. The members should make suggestions to their officers as to what the Republicans in their neighborhood are doing; as to the issues the voters are discussing chiefly; as to what kind of literature would be most effective, and so forth, and a summary of these suggestions should be sent to county, State and national headquarters. Corrupt use of money should be fought. Untiring effort should be made to get every Democrat to the polls and proper men should be appointed to watch the voting and the counting of the ballots to prevent fraud.

Were such clubs organized all over the country the good that would be done and the increase of the vote that could be secured can hardly be estimated.

BRYAN AND THE BUSINESS INTERESTS.

The business men's national Bryan and Kern club will meet in Chicago today and remain in session two days. This will be the first general meeting of the association, which has branches all over the country. Hon. Nathan Straus, the philanturopist of New York, is the chairman. There is no better type than he of the successful and honest business man. He has large business interests, and no American citizen is better qualified to speak for the business interests in this campaign, and he advocates the election of Bryan and Kern because he believes their election will help every kind of business and employment and will give the country an honest and economically administered Government.

THE SUN GOT ITS REWARD.

"The Sun is in receipt of a letter stating that the United States Navy Department has selected The Sun as the medium in which to advertise for recruits in Baltimore. The letter in part follows:

"'In revising our list and eliminating the weaker newspapers we find the results justify our using your paper in October. This is flattering to you for the reason that the statistical method used this year for judging mediums is the severest test possible.'"—Baltimore Sun.

Wonder if the administration is throwing this sop to the Baltimore Sun because of its support of Taft in Maryland!

When Roosevelt took up the Bryan challenge he must have thought he would have more time on his hands or he misjudged his opponent's bulldog tenacity. It is evident Roosevelt is not writing Taft's campaign speeches, or else they are expurgated by the latter before delivery. But Taft used one expression the other day which sounded very Rooseveltian—when he charged Gompers with lying.

Can any one foretell what will be the leading features of the session of the Legislature this winter? We suppose prohibition and railroad matters are out of the way. Taxation and the homestead will probably come in for a large share of attention. The re-election of Senator Overman is, of course, conceded by all. There will be no contention over that.

The News and Courier says that Georgia blind tiger hunters have developed such acute sense of smell that they are being imported into South Carolina and employed to aid the authorities. When hunting booze for themselves in Georgia they did not know there would be such demand for their services.

Roosevelt seems to have found out somewhere that he was doing good work in aid of Bryan's election. Somebody somehow has convinced him that he had better stop his epistolary controversy with Bryan if he didn't want to make sure the election of the latter.

Corn whiskey put up in tin cans with a picture of a big red tomato on them and labeled "canned tomatoes" is the latest dodge discovered by the city authorities in Morganton. The sudden and rapidly increasing demand for that particular brand of tomatoes caused the discovery.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—We have been looking for Bro. Bernard, the punster of the Wilmington Star, to remind Spencer Adams that the Democrats would give him an Eller of a time reducing the Democratic majority in North Carolina.—Webster's Weekly.

—Democratic State Chairman J. Taylor Ellyson, of Virginia, is of the opinion that Democratic prospects throughout the country are brightening every day. A number of independent and unbiased men are saying the same thing and that's where the real cause for Democratic rejoicing comes in. The election experts are about to get convinced that this is a Democratic year.—Greensboro Telegram.

—Our Republican friends are leaving no stone unturned in the search for campaign funds. Heretofore they have been able to see a few men of large means and secure all the money needed, with some left over for the next campaign, but this year they must be having trouble, for they are appealing to the individual voter, thus again imitating Mr. Bryan's suggestion, which was adopted by the Democratic national committee.—Greensboro Record.

—The report comes from Wall Street that one day last week, the Republican national campaign committee received a contribution that put it on a solid basis. How much it amounted to, or who donated it, is not stated, but it will become known, depend upon that. It must have been a large sum, or there would not have been so much mystery about it and the fact that the news was first given out from Wall Street indicates that some Wall Street men may have a more or less direct connection with it. We expect to see some enterprising newspaper uncover the facts in the case before the week is out.—Charlotte Chronicle.

—While everybody else is congratulating the country on the day of the airship the treasury officials are looking at it with some misgivings. They fear it will enable the lost art of smuggling to become a thriving, paying, and an immune business in so far as the law is concerned. Our borders are patrolled by guards and our coasts are watched by customs officials and revenue cutters and so vigilant are they that smuggling as a profession doesn't pay dividends, hence is not carried on except as some individual seeks to run the gauntlet with a few personal purchases.—Raleigh Times.

—President Roosevelt has removed Lincoln Avery and Charles A. Bailey, prominent officeholders under the government in Michigan, for "pernicious political activity." Circumstances preclude the attachment of any such penalty to President Roosevelt for similar activity. Messrs. Avery and Bailey, it appears, used their position in influence politically the force of classified clerks under them, and to stumulate campaign contributions from them. Demeanor of this sort is undoubtedly pernicious. It is flatly forbidden by the rules of the civil service, and the gentlemen fully deserve their punishment. Yet what must they think of the judge who ejects them with such virtuous wrath? He, too, holds a position under the government, controlling an army of subordinates far outmatching theirs, and he has used his position with far greater skill and boldness to accomplish political influence for himself.—Times Dispatch.

—That was a funny error that The Omaha Bee, Republican, fell into when it copied and criticised a passage from the national Republican platform, supposing that it was copying from one of Mr. Bryan's speeches. He counters upon it very happily, endorsing its criticism in every particular. It has been frequently remarked that the platforms of the two parties are so much alike that they might be exchanged without the public being any the wiser, but the unfortunate Omaha editor took this dictum too literally for the parties' positions on the tariff are not identical, as he has learned to his sorrow. It was the good Deacon Richard Smith, we believe, who blamed everything that was wrong with the paper on his "wicked partner." Editor Rosewater, of The Bee, has taken his cue from the good deacon and places the responsibility for this contretemps—where it of course belongs—on a wicked editorial writer. And this gentleman is now entitled to the floor.—Charlotte Observer.

Senses of Insects.

Insects guide themselves in flight almost entirely and on the ground partly by means of their faceted eyes. The antennae and the buccal sensory organs cannot help in aerial steering.

Insects perceive the motion of objects particularly well—i. e., the displacements of visual images relatively to the compound eye. They therefore see better when on the wing than at rest, for during flight the image of immobile objects is displaced relatively to the eye.

Insects distinguish the contours and forms of objects only more or less indistinctly.

Insects appreciate the direction and distance of objects very clearly during flight by the aid of their compound eyes. They can also appreciate, even when at rest, the distance of immobile objects.

Certain insects (bees, bumblebees) distinguish color clearly and recognize colors better than forms. Among others (wasps) the perception of color appears, on the contrary, to be very rudimentary.—"Senses of Insects."

It's Up to You

to be our judge, Geo O. Gaylord's Stores have had their Fall opening, and extended the most liberal invitation to everyone to visit and inspect our stock, we will now leave the decisionin your hands Judging from the immense crowds that we had both days of the opening, and the number of pleasant compliments paid us on the wealth of merchandise that we had to show and from the way the ladies purchased their early Fall hats, we must pronounce our opening a great success. We say we are cheaper than other stores, not that we carry less desirable goods in style and quality, but there are many reasons why we can sell for less and one of the chief reasons that in this one store there are many stores, each department representing a store within itself. I wish to extend thanks for all the clerks and milliners in the store and myself for the very large attendance that we had, and now down to business. We want to sell you more good than we have ever sold you, and do it, yes, sure we will do it. Our customers have not been buying so many goods through the Summer, and now the 35,000 people that live in this city, and the 50,000 that live in the County need their Fall and Winter supplies. We have just the articles you want, the goods are new, the prices are right. Our Dress Goods Department has just been newly supplied with Panamas', Mohairs, Broadcloth's, Voiles, Peaudesoi Silks, Taffetas and Fall Percales and everything that is new and pretty in that department. Think! We are selling today 36 inch Henrietta at 25c per yard, today twelve months ago it was 50c, Soisete Silks, glossy and serviceable good enough for a queen and only 25c per yard to you. 54 inch Panama in Black $1.00 quality now 65c. $1.25 Peaudesoi Silks for $1.00 per yard today. Standard yard wide Percales only 10c. Beat these prices? No you can't.

Our Cloak Department and Tailor made suits has grown so big and strong we can hardly get room for them, just think what we can show you today a beautiful Broadcloth coat, full 50 inches long, made to fit perfect, trimmed enough to be neat, but not loaded with cheap trimmings, last season this coat would easily bring $12.50, today price is $8.00. The Swell coats that we have is some for the few that wants something that nobody else has got, and the kind that is a little better than her neighbors, the only thing that I can describe about them is the price and that is about $25.00 each. Now to the lady that wants a 54 inch coat that looks as good as a neighbors $15.00 coat let her come to us and I will sell it to her for $5.00 or $6.00. The styles, quantity and prices can not be described come and look at them. It does not take much pocket change to buy one, but they are reasonable for all to obtain. Our Tailor Made Suits is the talk of the town, we have won first place in this department from the beginning. If we have not got just the style you want and color you like and size you need why we will order it for you, and all we require is your word that you will take it when it comes. I can't tell it all, every clerk in the store sent a special message for you to come and see them. You know the place, of course you do, The Big Store on Front Street that gives away premiums every day, if you have not got it, get the habit and come early before the plumes are all gone.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

When Her Rights Came.

Abe Warner was a good-for-nothing whose meek little wife supported him. One day came a woman's rights old maid, Miss Stranger. In three days she had organized a woman's club in Grafton and made an address that aroused the patriotic hearts of the members. Within an hour most of them had thrown off the yoke of slavery and were prepared to take a hand in running the government. It so happened that little Mrs. Warner was doing some sewing at the house where the first meeting was held, and it was insisted that she join the club. She was scared half to death at the idea of having any rights and asserting them, and after the meeting was over Miss Stranger took her in hand to make her something more than a worm of the dust. She was talked to for an hour, and the effects were felt at home that same evening. Abe wanted 50 cents, and for the first time in her life the wife refused him. She did even more. She demanded to know why he didn't go to work.

The husband loafed off downtown to play checkers, but he didn't play. His feelings had been hurt. There was rebellion in his own house. He had suffered loss of dignity. He couldn't get over these jolts, and so he returned home to cuff his wife's ears and tell her how ungrateful she was not to appreciate a husband like him. She took the cuffs, but not as meekly as formerly. In fact, there was a danger signal in her eye that set Abe to wondering what had come over her. She still refused him any money, and he thought it best not to cuff too hard. He heard through some of his cronies that his wife had joined the woman's rights club, and it made him laugh. He went home and guyed her about it, but she had nothing to say. She simply looked at him in a queer way, and he wound up by saying:

"If I hear any more about this nonsense I'll make your ears ring for you. You've got all the rights coming to you, and you want to stop right there."

When he was ready to go down to his loafing place that evening his humble wife voluntarily offered him half a dollar and gave him a glad surprise. He hadn't been drunk for ten days, and now here was the wherewithal. The fact that she offered the money forced him to deduce that she had got over her rebellious spirit and wanted to placate him, and he went away patting himself on the back as the only husband in Grafton that knew how to manage a wife. To make up for lost time he got drunker than usual and at midnight was brought into the house and dumped on the floor. This was no unusual occurrence, but unusual things followed it. He awoke about 9 o'clock the next forenoon to find himself tied hand and foot. He started to inquire why in Texas his breakfast wasn't ready and why he hadn't been undressed and put to bed, but as he opened his mouth to do so he noticed that his humble wife was sitting with her sewing not far away and that she had what looked like a horsewhip across her knees.

"Well, what does this mean?" he finally asked.

"It means that a great change is about to take place."

"Who tied me up this way?"

"I did. It's the first move in the change."

"You untie me and hustle me up some breakfast or I'll make things hot for you! By thunder, but how dare you do such a thing!"

"Abe," she said as she laid down her sewing and stood up with the whip in her hand, "you have been a lazy, good for nothing man for years past. Are you going to work?"

"Of course not. Why should I go to work?"

"You are not only a lazy, shiftless loafer, but you are a drunkard. You have no ambition, no sense of shame. Are you going to promise me never to get drunk again?"

"No, I ain't. I guess I want a little fun once in awhile as well as other folks. Seems to me you are talking mighty strange all to once. Is this what you call woman's rights?"

"Yes, Abe; it is."

"Then I'll lick it out of you in about five minutes!"

"Not in a thousand years, Abe. On the contrary, I'm going to lick something out of you!"

And then she began. She was a little woman, but she had a strong arm, and she was incited by the remembrance that for seventeen centuries her sex had been only worms of the dust. She stood there and laid that whip on until Abe bellowed for mercy. Then she stopped for five minutes' rest and began again. She lashed him, and she larruped him, and she walloped him, and he blubbered like a boy. While she was giving him a drink five members of the club came in. They had no words, but smiled encouragement. Abe rolled over and over and cried and howled, but the lash continued to fall. The women went away, and the humble wife rested, but not for long. All that day the man was left tied on the floor, and at regular intervals he was basted, and the performance did not close until an hour before sundown. Then he was released and sent to bed. Before twenty-four hours had passed he had "struck a job," and if you call for him today you will find him a sober, hardworking man. If the subject of woman's rights is mentioned, he has no opinion to express. He simply shivers, as if cold, and the perspiration starts out on his brow. The little woman isn't running the government yet, but she is running Abe Warner and the house and doing very well at it.

POLITICAL SITUATION IN NEW YORK.

In its resume of the political situation in New York State the Herald inclines to the belief that Taft will secure the State's electoral vote and that Chanler's chances of success are better than Hughes'. This forecast is made after thorough canvass of the whole State by the Herald's representatives. It says both parties are short of money and for that reason the campaign work is far behind; therefore, future developments may produce material changes in situation. From the Herald's article on this subject in its issue of last Sunday we take the following:

"Mr. Taft, according to all surface indications, at present holds New York State. It will apparently require a political convulsion or revolution in the remaining weeks of the campaign to dislodge him from his position.

"Mr. Chanler's chances now seem superior to those of Mr. Hughes. But in the opinion of many political observers the full strength of the opposition to the present Governor developed early in the campaign. They declare it is now at flood tide and is likely to recede during the coming month.

"The preceding paragraphs sum up the situation as The Herald finds it after a careful preliminary canvass of the entire State.

"Skilled correspondents and competent political observers familiar with the localities to which they were assigned have gone through the counties of the State and have obtained the views of the best posted politicians of both parties on the situation in their localities. These views and the personal investigations of the correspondents of the unusual conditions here and there present as accurate a summary as can be had of the political outlook at this moment.

"There are not likely to be any heavy pluralities either way. The most sanguine Republicans do not expect Mr. Taft to carry the State by more than fifty thousand. Where a plurality is claimed for Mr. Hughes the figures are placed very low. The Democrats hope to elect Mr. Chanler by fifty thousand, and some of them figure out a small plurality for Mr. Bryan.

"So far as the national ticket is concerned, there is no evidence of unpopular resentment at the steam roller methods by which Mr. Taft's nomination was secured. Mr. Roosevelt's interest in Taft's success and his aggressive championship of the Republican candidate have offended many, but have also brought Mr. Taft some support.

"The panic has hurt the Republicans with the workingmen and with retail business men. On the other hand, the general fear that Mr. Bryan's election might precipitate another crisis or delay the return of prosperity will give Mr. Taft many votes.

"There is marked tendency on the part of gold Democrats and Cleveland Democrats, who have been wandering in the wilderness since 1896, to return to the fold. This is especially true of men who were active in politics. They see, as The Herald has pointed out, that with the United States Senate strongly Republican for some years to come it will be impossible for Mr. Bryan to get any of his more radical ideas enacted into law."

RECOGNITION OF THE SOUTH.

The Washington Herald quotes Hon. Z. V. Walser, who was in the national capital a few days ago, as saying that the Republican party had always recognized the South more than the Democratic in the matter of appointments to Cabinet and other important positions.

The Charlotte Observer takes up Mr. Walser on his statement and shows how incorrect it is. It names seven men from the South who have been appointed to Cabinet positions by Republican Presidents, three to the Supreme Court and one as minister to Persia and then to Greece. It says no other men from the South have been appointed to offices of that class during the many years that party has been in power. Against this the Observer places, during the eight years of Cleveland's two administrations the following appointments of Southern men by him, which, it says, is but a partial list furnished in large part from memory:

"Garland, of Arkansas, Attorney General; Herbert, of Alabama, Secretary of the Navy; Bayard, of Deleware, Secretary of State; Lamar, of Mississippi, Secretary of the Interior; Smith, of Georgia, Secretary of the Interior; Francis, of Missouri, Secretary of the Interior; Carlisle, of Kentucky, Secretary of the Treasury; Wilson, of West Virginia, Postmaster General; Lamar, of Mississippi, and White, of Louisiana, Justice of the Supreme Court, American ministers: Bayard, of Deleware, to England; Eustis, of Louisiana, to France; Breckinridge, of Arkansas, to Russia; Keiley of Virginia, to Italy; Alexander, Jarvis and Ransom, all of North Carolina, to Greece, Brazil and Mexico, respectively."

Mr. Walser should pick his flint and come again in his effort to show why the South should be Republican; but were he to do so he would be as unsuccessful as in the one above referred to, for neither he nor anyone else can give any reasons which would convince the people of the South that it would be better for their States to be under control of the Republican party or for them to give their electoral votes to the nominee of that party.

DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

There should be a Democratic club formed in every voting precinct in the State. Such clubs could do a great deal in the way of getting members of the party interested in the campaign and in bringing out the full vote of the party on election day.

A circular on this subject has been sent out from Democratic national headquarters, making sugestions as to the work that should be done by such clubs. Among them are such as these: There should be a large campaign committee as well as committees on membership and finance. Every member of the club should be assigned to duty on some committee as far as is practicable. The members should make suggestions to their officers as to what the Republicans in their neghborhood are doing; as to the issues the voters are discussing chiefly; as to what kind of literature would be most effective, and so forth, and a summary of these suggestions should be sent to county, State and national headquarters. Corrupt use of money should be fought. Untiring effort should be made to get every Democrat to the polls and proper men should be appointed to watch the voting and the counting of the ballots to prevent fraud.

Were such clubs organized all over the country the good that would be done and the increase of the vote that could be secured can hardly be estimated.

BRYAN AND THE BUSINESS INTERESTS.

The business men's national Bryan and Kern club will meet in Chicago today and remain in session two days. This will be the first general meeting of the association, which has branches all over the country. Hon. Nathan Straus, the philanturopist of New York, is the chairman. There is no better type than he of the successful and honest business man. He has large business interests, and no American citizen is better qualified to speak for the business interests in this campaign, and he advocates the election of Bryan and Kern because he believes their election will help every kind of business and employment and will give the country an honest and economically administered Government.

THE SUN GOT ITS REWARD.

"The Sun is in receipt of a letter stating that the United States Navy Department has selected The Sun as the medium in which to advertise for recruits in Baltimore. The letter in part follows:

"'In revising our list and eliminating the weaker newspapers we find the results justify our using your paper in October. This is flattering to you for the reason that the statistical method used this year for judging mediums is the severest test possible.'"—Baltimore Sun.

Wonder if the administration is throwing this sop to the Baltimore Sun because of its support of Taft in Maryland!

When Roosevelt took up the Bryan challenge he must have thought he would have more time on his hands or he misjudged his opponent's bulldog tenacity. It is evident Roosevelt is not writing Taft's campaign speeches, or else they are expurgated by the latter before delivery. But Taft used one expression the other day which sounded very Rooseveltian—when he charged Gompers with lying.

Can any one foretell what will be the leading features of the session of the Legislature this winter? We suppose prohibition and railroad matters are out of the way. Taxation and the homestead will probably come in for a large share of attention. The re-election of Senator Overman is, of course, conceded by all. There will be no contention over that.

The News and Courier says that Georgia blind tiger hunters have developed such acute sense of smell that they are being imported into South Carolina and employed to aid the authorities. When hunting booze for themselves in Georgia they did not know there would be such demand for their services.

Roosevelt seems to have found out somewhere that he was doing good work in aid of Bryan's election. Somebody somehow has convinced him that he had better stop his epistolary controversy with Bryan if he didn't want to make sure the election of the latter.

Corn whiskey put up in tin cans with a picture of a big red tomato on them and labeled "canned tomatoes" is the latest dodge discovered by the city authorities in Morganton. The sudden and rapidly increasing demand for that particular brand of tomatoes caused the discovery.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—We have been looking for Bro. Bernard, the punster of the Wilmington Star, to remind Spencer Adams that the Democrats would give him an Eller of a time reducing the Democratic majority in North Carolina.—Webster's Weekly.

—Democratic State Chairman J. Taylor Ellyson, of Virginia, is of the opinion that Democratic prospects throughout the country are brightening every day. A number of independent and unbiased men are saying the same thing and that's where the real cause for Democratic rejoicing comes in. The election experts are about to get convinced that this is a Democratic year.—Greensboro Telegram.

—Our Republican friends are leaving no stone unturned in the search for campaign funds. Heretofore they have been able to see a few men of large means and secure all the money needed, with some left over for the next campaign, but this year they must be having trouble, for they are appealing to the individual voter, thus again imitating Mr. Bryan's suggestion, which was adopted by the Democratic national committee.—Greensboro Record.

—The report comes from Wall Street that one day last week, the Republican national campaign committee received a contribution that put it on a solid basis. How much it amounted to, or who donated it, is not stated, but it will become known, depend upon that. It must have been a large sum, or there would not have been so much mystery about it and the fact that the news was first given out from Wall Street indicates that some Wall Street men may have a more or less direct connection with it. We expect to see some enterprising newspaper uncover the facts in the case before the week is out.—Charlotte Chronicle.

—While everybody else is congratulating the country on the day of the airship the treasury officials are looking at it with some misgivings. They fear it will enable the lost art of smuggling to become a thriving, paying, and an immune business in so far as the law is concerned. Our borders are patrolled by guards and our coasts are watched by customs officials and revenue cutters and so vigilant are they that smuggling as a profession doesn't pay dividends, hence is not carried on except as some individual seeks to run the gauntlet with a few personal purchases.—Raleigh Times.

—President Roosevelt has removed Lincoln Avery and Charles A. Bailey, prominent officeholders under the government in Michigan, for "pernicious political activity." Circumstances preclude the attachment of any such penalty to President Roosevelt for similar activity. Messrs. Avery and Bailey, it appears, used their position in influence politically the force of classified clerks under them, and to stumulate campaign contributions from them. Demeanor of this sort is undoubtedly pernicious. It is flatly forbidden by the rules of the civil service, and the gentlemen fully deserve their punishment. Yet what must they think of the judge who ejects them with such virtuous wrath? He, too, holds a position under the government, controlling an army of subordinates far outmatching theirs, and he has used his position with far greater skill and boldness to accomplish political influence for himself.—Times Dispatch.

—That was a funny error that The Omaha Bee, Republican, fell into when it copied and criticised a passage from the national Republican platform, supposing that it was copying from one of Mr. Bryan's speeches. He counters upon it very happily, endorsing its criticism in every particular. It has been frequently remarked that the platforms of the two parties are so much alike that they might be exchanged without the public being any the wiser, but the unfortunate Omaha editor took this dictum too literally for the parties' positions on the tariff are not identical, as he has learned to his sorrow. It was the good Deacon Richard Smith, we believe, who blamed everything that was wrong with the paper on his "wicked partner." Editor Rosewater, of The Bee, has taken his cue from the good deacon and places the responsibility for this contretemps—where it of course belongs—on a wicked editorial writer. And this gentleman is now entitled to the floor.—Charlotte Observer.

Senses of Insects.

Insects guide themselves in flight almost entirely and on the ground partly by means of their faceted eyes. The antennae and the buccal sensory organs cannot help in aerial steering.

Insects perceive the motion of objects particularly well—i. e., the displacements of visual images relatively to the compound eye. They therefore see better when on the wing than at rest, for during flight the image of immobile objects is displaced relatively to the eye.

Insects distinguish the contours and forms of objects only more or less indistinctly.

Insects appreciate the direction and distance of objects very clearly during flight by the aid of their compound eyes. They can also appreciate, even when at rest, the distance of immobile objects.

Certain insects (bees, bumblebees) distinguish color clearly and recognize colors better than forms. Among others (wasps) the perception of color appears, on the contrary, to be very rudimentary.—"Senses of Insects."

It's Up to You

to be our judge, Geo O. Gaylord's Stores have had their Fall opening, and extended the most liberal invitation to everyone to visit and inspect our stock, we will now leave the decisionin your hands Judging from the immense crowds that we had both days of the opening, and the number of pleasant compliments paid us on the wealth of merchandise that we had to show and from the way the ladies purchased their early Fall hats, we must pronounce our opening a great success. We say we are cheaper than other stores, not that we carry less desirable goods in style and quality, but there are many reasons why we can sell for less and one of the chief reasons that in this one store there are many stores, each department representing a store within itself. I wish to extend thanks for all the clerks and milliners in the store and myself for the very large attendance that we had, and now down to business. We want to sell you more good than we have ever sold you, and do it, yes, sure we will do it. Our customers have not been buying so many goods through the Summer, and now the 35,000 people that live in this city, and the 50,000 that live in the County need their Fall and Winter supplies. We have just the articles you want, the goods are new, the prices are right. Our Dress Goods Department has just been newly supplied with Panamas', Mohairs, Broadcloth's, Voiles, Peaudesoi Silks, Taffetas and Fall Percales and everything that is new and pretty in that department. Think! We are selling today 36 inch Henrietta at 25c per yard, today twelve months ago it was 50c, Soisete Silks, glossy and serviceable good enough for a queen and only 25c per yard to you. 54 inch Panama in Black $1.00 quality now 65c. $1.25 Peaudesoi Silks for $1.00 per yard today. Standard yard wide Percales only 10c. Beat these prices? No you can't.

Our Cloak Department and Tailor made suits has grown so big and strong we can hardly get room for them, just think what we can show you today a beautiful Broadcloth coat, full 50 inches long, made to fit perfect, trimmed enough to be neat, but not loaded with cheap trimmings, last season this coat would easily bring $12.50, today price is $8.00. The Swell coats that we have is some for the few that wants something that nobody else has got, and the kind that is a little better than her neighbors, the only thing that I can describe about them is the price and that is about $25.00 each. Now to the lady that wants a 54 inch coat that looks as good as a neighbors $15.00 coat let her come to us and I will sell it to her for $5.00 or $6.00. The styles, quantity and prices can not be described come and look at them. It does not take much pocket change to buy one, but they are reasonable for all to obtain. Our Tailor Made Suits is the talk of the town, we have won first place in this department from the beginning. If we have not got just the style you want and color you like and size you need why we will order it for you, and all we require is your word that you will take it when it comes. I can't tell it all, every clerk in the store sent a special message for you to come and see them. You know the place, of course you do, The Big Store on Front Street that gives away premiums every day, if you have not got it, get the habit and come early before the plumes are all gone.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

When Her Rights Came.

Abe Warner was a good-for-nothing whose meek little wife supported him. One day came a woman's rights old maid, Miss Stranger. In three days she had organized a woman's club in Grafton and made an address that aroused the patriotic hearts of the members. Within an hour most of them had thrown off the yoke of slavery and were prepared to take a hand in running the government. It so happened that little Mrs. Warner was doing some sewing at the house where the first meeting was held, and it was insisted that she join the club. She was scared half to death at the idea of having any rights and asserting them, and after the meeting was over Miss Stranger took her in hand to make her something more than a worm of the dust. She was talked to for an hour, and the effects were felt at home that same evening. Abe wanted 50 cents, and for the first time in her life the wife refused him. She did even more. She demanded to know why he didn't go to work.

The husband loafed off downtown to play checkers, but he didn't play. His feelings had been hurt. There was rebellion in his own house. He had suffered loss of dignity. He couldn't get over these jolts, and so he returned home to cuff his wife's ears and tell her how ungrateful she was not to appreciate a husband like him. She took the cuffs, but not as meekly as formerly. In fact, there was a danger signal in her eye that set Abe to wondering what had come over her. She still refused him any money, and he thought it best not to cuff too hard. He heard through some of his cronies that his wife had joined the woman's rights club, and it made him laugh. He went home and guyed her about it, but she had nothing to say. She simply looked at him in a queer way, and he wound up by saying:

"If I hear any more about this nonsense I'll make your ears ring for you. You've got all the rights coming to you, and you want to stop right there."

When he was ready to go down to his loafing place that evening his humble wife voluntarily offered him half a dollar and gave him a glad surprise. He hadn't been drunk for ten days, and now here was the wherewithal. The fact that she offered the money forced him to deduce that she had got over her rebellious spirit and wanted to placate him, and he went away patting himself on the back as the only husband in Grafton that knew how to manage a wife. To make up for lost time he got drunker than usual and at midnight was brought into the house and dumped on the floor. This was no unusual occurrence, but unusual things followed it. He awoke about 9 o'clock the next forenoon to find himself tied hand and foot. He started to inquire why in Texas his breakfast wasn't ready and why he hadn't been undressed and put to bed, but as he opened his mouth to do so he noticed that his humble wife was sitting with her sewing not far away and that she had what looked like a horsewhip across her knees.

"Well, what does this mean?" he finally asked.

"It means that a great change is about to take place."

"Who tied me up this way?"

"I did. It's the first move in the change."

"You untie me and hustle me up some breakfast or I'll make things hot for you! By thunder, but how dare you do such a thing!"

"Abe," she said as she laid down her sewing and stood up with the whip in her hand, "you have been a lazy, good for nothing man for years past. Are you going to work?"

"Of course not. Why should I go to work?"

"You are not only a lazy, shiftless loafer, but you are a drunkard. You have no ambition, no sense of shame. Are you going to promise me never to get drunk again?"

"No, I ain't. I guess I want a little fun once in awhile as well as other folks. Seems to me you are talking mighty strange all to once. Is this what you call woman's rights?"

"Yes, Abe; it is."

"Then I'll lick it out of you in about five minutes!"

"Not in a thousand years, Abe. On the contrary, I'm going to lick something out of you!"

And then she began. She was a little woman, but she had a strong arm, and she was incited by the remembrance that for seventeen centuries her sex had been only worms of the dust. She stood there and laid that whip on until Abe bellowed for mercy. Then she stopped for five minutes' rest and began again. She lashed him, and she larruped him, and she walloped him, and he blubbered like a boy. While she was giving him a drink five members of the club came in. They had no words, but smiled encouragement. Abe rolled over and over and cried and howled, but the lash continued to fall. The women went away, and the humble wife rested, but not for long. All that day the man was left tied on the floor, and at regular intervals he was basted, and the performance did not close until an hour before sundown. Then he was released and sent to bed. Before twenty-four hours had passed he had "struck a job," and if you call for him today you will find him a sober, hardworking man. If the subject of woman's rights is mentioned, he has no opinion to express. He simply shivers, as if cold, and the perspiration starts out on his brow. The little woman isn't running the government yet, but she is running Abe Warner and the house and doing very well at it.

RALEIGH NEWS NOTES.

Kitchin Heard by Immense Crowd at Apex—Fair Marshals.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 6.—Four thousand people participated in a great Democratic rally at Apex, Wake county, today when Congressman W. W. Kitchin, candidate for Governor was the principal speaker and free barbecue was served to all. Special train loads of people from Raleigh, Durham and Sanford were there, the people of the whole country round about out en masse. Mr. Kitchin delivered a forcible Democratic rallying spech that evidently had good effect. Democratic campaign managers say conditions have brightened very considerably the past week. It had been considered rather doubtful whether the Democrats would win in Wake, but they are now sanguine of victory.

Among the assistants named by Chief Marshal Thomas O'Berry for the State Fair at Raleigh next week are Messrs. Jack Bellamy and E. P. Bailey, of Wilmington; W. C. Woodward, Rock Mount; Dr. H. B. Best, Wilson; John Robinson and R. M. Robinson, Goldsboro; Marion Lee, Dunn; W. D. Wooten, Clarkton; S. A. L. Johnson, Abbatsburg; Dr. L. J. Pegram, Duke; T. IN CANETUCK SECTION

People Recovering From Effects of Recent Floods—Resolution.

Collector of Customs B. F. Keith has just returned from a trip through the Canetuck section of Pender county, which was recently devastated by the Cape Fear floods. Mr. Keith says the people are saving all forage they possibly can and that some corn is being gathered from the flooded fields for feeding stock but very little of it is fit for meal. However, the people are recovering from the effects of the flood remarkably well. Mr. Keith brought with him the following expression from the people of Canetuck in regard to the kind assistance that has been tendered them:

"We the citizens of Canetuck township, in mass meeting, desire to express our sincere thanks to the good people of Wilmington and other sections of the State for their timely and generous contributions in our distressed condition caused by the late storm and freshets destroying our crops.

"Resolved, That we beg to assure them we will ever cherish in our hearts a warm feeling for them and should an opportunity present itself will be glad to reciprocate.

"We further feel grateful to the Government in sending Lieutenant McKenna to investigate and see if assistance was needed from the Government.

"Resolved, That the Wilmington papers and Pender Chronicle be requested to publish these proceedings."

LOCAL DOTS.

—First Church of Christ Scientists, Market and 17th streets. Services this evening at 8:15 o'clock. All are invited.

—The British steamer Delmira, Captain Connell, arrived in port yesterday from Hamburg, Germany, with cargo of fertilizer constituents for the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company; vessel to Heide & Co.

—A deed was filed for record yesterday conveying from Mr. Henry Horne and wife to John T. Brown and wife, a lot on east side of Fifth street, 92 feet south of Dawson street, 46x264 feet in size, for $1,000 and other considerations.

—It will be of interest to his many Wilmington friends to know that Mr. Robert E. Hatch, formerly assistant secretary of the Wilmington Y. M. C. A., has been secured by Mr. J. W. Cannon, of Concord, to take charge of a very important mill association at Kannapolis, N. C.

—The fire in the coal bunker at the Champion Compress was still smouldering yesterday, but it is expected that enough of the coal will be removed today for the firemen to get at the trouble. Chief Schnibben has two men of the Fire Department detailed night and day to look after the fire.

—President J. A. Taylor, of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Board of Directors of the Society, has been placed on the programme as one of the speakers for the forthcoming North Carolina Peace Congress in Greensboro, October 12th to 17th. Mr. Taylor will speak to the subject, "The Waste of War."

The Theatre

Seats are now on sale at Plummer's for the notable musical attraction at the Academy of Music tonight, this being the popular and widely heralded Victor's Venetian Band, which comes to this city with the most flattering press notices. This band was heard with great pleasure in Wilmington two years ago and those who were present on that occasion will be glad of the opportunity to hear the famous organization again.

The Venetian Band is composed of musicians, nearly all of whom are excellent soloists on their respective instruments and a number of compositions will be on the programme to enable them to demonstrate their ability as solo artists.

The attraction as has been previously noted is one of four that have been arranged for the next few months to be given in this city for the benefit of the children's playground movement, and this fact, in addition to the exceptional merit of the attraction, should make it certain that there is a crowded house tonight.

"The Devil"—The very first instance of a play being presented on the road simultaneously with its big success in New York city is presented in the tour of "The Devil." Those who follow the history of dramatics know well the furore that this weird, though modern play, has created and is still creating in New York. The Savage production, with Edwin Stevens in the title role, has been received in Gotham with high praise and crowded houses. A glance at the dramatic column of any New York daily will bear out this information to the uninitaited, however. Seats are being sold for weeks and weeks in advance, yet Mr. Savage, who, by the way, owns the giant production of the "Merry Widow" and many other successes, realizing that the play was in for a long run allowed "The Devil" to take the road. Hence, Wilmington's opportunity to see that noted play Friday night at the Academy. Seats will go on sale tomorrow morning.

"On the Bridge at Midnight"—Klimt and Gazzolo's "On the Bridge at Midnight," which will be seen at the Academy of Music here Saturday matinee and night is said to be a remarkable example of the true comedy drama. There is said to be none of the sensational horseplay in its action and is a dramatic entertainment of real merit. The great bridge scene is realistic and pleasing. Pathos and romance are so woven together, it is said, that the play appeals to all audiences. "Reddy," the newsboy, and "Germany," the professor, keep the comedy going and the serious roles are exceptionally well taken.

"The Traitor" Coming—Mr. H. C. Robey, one of the managers of Channing Pollock's and Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s "The Traitor," the dramatic sequel to "The Clansman," arrived in the city yesterday to arrange for the coming of that big production Wednesday, matinee and night, October 21st. The show was greeted by record-breaking attendance in Richmond, the capital of the Confederacy, last night and made a great hit. Mr. Dixon personally accompanies the attraction this season and will be seen in this city.

"The Runaways" — Arrangements for the dance at Lumina in compliment to the Davidson and University football teams upon their appearance here for their annual game next Saturday week, have progressed so far that it has been deemed advisable not to have "The Runaways" appear here on the night previously arranged for. "The Runaways" company, which is the property of Mr. S. A. Schloss, will, however, appear here later.

ONE GAME DECIDES

and retired Dougherty with a high fly to right. This being the first time the Chicago enthusiasts had had an opportunity to cheer, they seized it and for a time bedlam would have appeared a quiet retreat compared to the southside ball park. J. Atz, of the Chicagoans, coaching off third base, became so excited that he intruded on the diamond and was ordered to the bench by Umpire Sheridan. Atz protested with such vigor that he was expelled from the grounds. Detroit's column showed a total of only two, for when Donovan did not strike out the batsmen, he pitched the brand of ball which resulted in flies. All told he struck out ten men. Behind him errorless ball was played and hits were made when hits were needed. There were thirteen of them, a fatal proportion from the local view point being in the first inning. Detroit's bating alone would have captured the contest with ease, but assurance was made doubly sure by Chicago's errors five in number. Detroit's commanding lead at the outset did not dishearten Chicago, but it had a depressing effect which deepened as the game proceeded, and Donavan's superb control showed no sign of weakening.

The batting of Crawford and Cobb clinched the game for Detroit in the first inning. McIntyre singled as a starter and after Bush had struck out Crawford doubled into the crowd putting McIntyre on third. Cobb's triple scored both runners and drove White to the timber. The Georgian scored a moment later on Isbell's fumble of Rossman's grounder, and Rossman came home later on a single followed by Walsh's wild throw. Crawford made four hits in five times up and Cobb three in four times at bat.

By winning today's game Detroit finished with a percentage of .588 and Chicago with .579.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 6.—Horns and squawker's drums and blazing torches waved aloft, with Manager Hugh Jennings familiar cry of "Wee-ah" on every tongue wildly tonight acclaimed Detroit's second winning of the pennant of the American League. Throughout the city, excited children and adults who had breathlessly watched the score boards this afternoon, surrendered themselves to celebration of the baseball victory. Unguarded packing boxes blazed up in celebration in every direction while the police and firemen were kept busy checking bonfires. Official recognization of today's victory of the Detroit American League baseball team was given by Mayor William B. Thompson in the submission of a special message to the common council and the adoption by the council of the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That we on behalf of the people of the city of Detroit extend to Manager Hugh Jennings and to each and every member of the team the most hearty congratulations for the splendid work already done in winning for the second time within the space of two years the championship of the American League.

"Resolved, That the merchants and citizens generally are requested to decorate their places of business and residences for the days on which the world's series will be played here and that all employers be requested to afford every possible opportunity to those who desire to attend the world championship games; and, be it further,

"Resolved, That the city clerk transmit a certified copy of this resolution to Mr. Jennings and to every member of the team."

In his special message submitting the resolution to the council Mayor Thompson:

"The news from Chicago is a matter of very joyful concern to all our people. Once more by a gallant fight, probably the most memorable in the history of the game, the members of the Detroit baseball club have brought the pennant to this city, and their fellow-citizens are proud of the achievement. It is only fitting that some public asknowledgement be made."

OAK RIDGE ITEMS.

Live News and Notes of the Institute and Neighborhood.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Oak Ridge, N. C., Oct. 6.—Academy Evening" at Oak Ridge Institute last Friday night was a most enjoyable occasion. There were addresses by representatives of the Literary Societies, the Y. M. C. A. and Senior Class. Prof. J. W. Hester read a very fine paper on the "Advantages of the Private High School," and Prof. T. E. Whitaker a paper of reminiscences. The dance following the literary exercises was largely engaged in, there being many young ladies present from the neighboring towns. Music was furnished by the well known Elam Orchestra, of Greensboro.

The students go on an outing to the Pilot Mountain Saturday.

The football team is practicing daily, and coached by Prof. E. P. Holt is making excellent progress. Several of last year's men are back and there is promising material among the new men.

Mr. E. F. Mayberry, of the Oak Ridge pitching staff, last Spring, has returned and will be here during the year.

Mr. June Donnell, and little daughter, has been visiting his father, Mr. W. O. Donnell, of this place. Mr. Donnell went west twenty-odd years ago, and is now a successful banker in the Ohio Corn Belt.

Mr. John Cottrell, an old and highly respected citizen, living near here, died suddenly Thursday morning while sitting in his chair before the fire. He arose, apparently, in his usual god health.

The young ladies of the neighborhood assisted by Miss May Kerner, of Winston-Salem, and Miss Atlanta Bradfield, of Los Angeles, Cal., gave an entertainment in the chapel a few nights ago for the benefit of the organ fund of the M. P. Church.

BUSY SESSION OF COURT.

The Usual Aftermath of Circus Day—On Various Charges.

Mayor Springer had to deal with all kinds of humanity at the session of the police court yesterday and the cases were disposed of in clock-work order, with the exception of the interference of Charles Burnett, a negro, who made himself a rather conspicious figure by his disobedience of the request of Officer Rouse, who ordered that he stand outside the railing in the court crowd. Burnett persisted, in a drunken resistance to the order of the officer and was placed in the guard house, for a hearing before the Mayor today.

Joe Rhodes, who made a brutal assault on his wife Monday night, was given the mercy of the court for the reason of his good behavior in the past, and released after paying $10 and the costs, the wife not having been seriously hurt as at first supposed.

Will Townsend, a fugitive from justice several months, who was apprehended by Officer Brinkley in the circus crowds Monday night was before the court, but his case was postponed and transferred to Justice John J. Furlong. The case will be tried this afternoon.

Minnie White and Julia Johnson, both colored, for disorderly conduct were given terms of 30 days on the county farm. George Boney, white, was tried for vagrancy and sentenced to 30 days on the roads.

Cutter Will Clear at Daylight.

The revenue cutter Seminole, which has been ordered to Norfolk and thence to a shipyard for repairs, will clear this morning at daylight and will probably reach her destination tomorrow evening. Extensive repairs will be made to the cutter, which will completely change the deck appearance. An additional deck room will be put on and she will be otherwise overhauled.

ROOSEVELT IS SATISFIED

With the Manner of Conducting the Republican Campaign—Confident of Taft's Election—No Friction Among Republicans.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Roosevelt is entirely confident that William H. Taft will be elected to succeed him, according to John R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National committee who was the Presidents guest today at luncheon. Mr. Sheldon came from New York at Mr. Roosevelt's request to discuss with him the general political situation. After the conference Mr. Sheldon gave out a statement in which, with the authority of the President, he denied reports that Mr. Roosevelt does not approve the manner in which Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock is running the campaign. Mr. Sheldon said the President heartily approves Mr. Hitchcock's management of the campaign and Mr. Hitchcock has the President's entire confidence. The report that Mr. Sheldon would resign as treasurer of the committee was positively denied as a rumor that some difference existed between the President, Secretary Root and Mr. Sheldon.

Mr. Sheldon stated that campaign contributions had not been as liberal as in previous campaigns, but this he attributed to various State laws on the subject. The Republicans, however, he said would have money enough to carry them through the campaign.

The President also entertained at luncheon Charles S. Francis, of Troy, N. Y., American ambassador to Austria-Hungary, who arrived in Washington yesterday. The President wished to inform himself on the situation in the Balkans as far as Ambassador Francis is acquainted with it. Mr. Francis has been absent from Vienna some weeks, is not informed regarding the late developments, except what he has learned from the dispatches. He would not discuss the situation.

MARRIAGE LAST EVENING

Mrs. Lizzie A. Canady and Mr. Paul Marshburn Wedded.

A happy marriage took place last evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bowdoin, No. 617 Red Cross street, the parties to the vows being Mrs. Lizzie Ada Canady and Mr. Paul A. Marshburn, both popular young people of this city.

The marriage vows were said in the presence of relatives and intimate friends, and the wedding was pronounced one of the prettiest of the Fall home weddings this season. The home was tastily decorated in golden rod and smilax, the color scheme of yellow and green being carried out with much precision.

The ceremony was performed by Rev K. D. Holmes, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist church. The bride was becomingly gowned in white silk, while the dame-of-honor, Mrs. J. C. Kendall was becomingly attired in cream crepe de chine. Mr. J. C. Kendall acted as best man. The bride and groom are very popular and have numbers of friends who extend the best congratulations.

Following the marriage a reception was tendered the couple by Mr. and Mrs. Bowdoin, and in the receiving party were Mesdames Elma Matthews, Fred McKoy, Thomas Rand and Misses Lula Augustine and Lillian Williams. The couple will reside at 617 Red Cross street, at the home of the bride's cousin.

The board received with much regret last evening the resignation of Colonel John VanB. Metts, who has been a valuable director.

The Woman's Auxiliary held the first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with a good attendance and plans for vigorous work this Fall were made. The ladies are already planning for their part in the opening reception on Friday, October 16th.

DR. H. T. POPE INJURED

Prominent Lumberton Physician Thrown From Buggy Near Town.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 6.—Dr. H. T. Pope, a prominent physician of this place, was painfully injured this forenoon as the result of his horse taking fright and dashing off suddenly. He was thrown from the buggy and indications are that he fell on his head and shoulder. A colored man, who witnessed the accident, hastened to town for physicians and the doctor was hurried to the Thompson Hospital where he is resting quietly tonight. It cannot be determined yet to what extent he is injured.

Mr. Kenan Bound Over.

Mr. T. J. Kenan, the well known East Wilmington trucker, who shot and wounded Mr. H. H. Rivenbark, claiming the same to have been by accident, was tried in Justice John J. Furlong's court yesterday at noon. The evidence was sufficient to hold the defendant for higher court and he was placed under a bond of $50, which was promptly given. On account of the circumstances in the case and the parties involved, the hearing was one of more than ordinary interest. Brooke G. Empie, Esq., appeared for the defendant and F. W. Bonitz, Esq., for the plaintiff.

SAYS EMPIRE STATE SAFE

Chairman Mack Gives Assurance of a Democratic Victory in New York. Roosevelt Supporters Nok For Bryan.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National committee made known tonight the reasons upon which he bases his prediction that New York State may safely be regarded as Democratic this year. Mr. Mack's statement regarding the situation in the Empire State is as follows:

"The Democratic party in New York was never more united, not even in 1892 than it is this year. The State is never doubtful when the Democrats stand together. With a united party we find our opponents all shot to pieces, some Republicans are opposing Roosevelt, others are against Hughes, which another faction are set against Taft. As an instance of the union of the Democratic forces, the National Democratic Club, of New York City, composed of 1,400 members, made up of bankers, merchants and professional men, opposed Bryan almost to a man in 1896 and 1900 I am told that 95 per cent. of the club's membership is ready to support Mr. Bryan this year and the club recently passed resolutions endorsing him and have contributed $2,500 with a promise to contribute a like amount later. With this situation I feel that New York is not only safe for Bryan, but there will be a Democratic landslide."

William J. Bryan will reach here tomorrow and will spend two days in Chicago. The candidate will be the guest tomorrow of the Chicago Association of Commerce and in the evening will speak with his opponent William H. Taft at the banquet of the Waterways Convention.

SENATOR OVERMAN COMING.

Favorite Wilmington Speaker Will be Heard Here Evening of 22nd.

County Chairman John J. Furlong, in response to repeated invitations, was advised yesterday by State Democratic Chairman A. H. Eller that Senator Lee S. Overman would be in Wilmington on Oct. 22nd and deliver an address to the voters of New Hanover that evening. The speaking will take place either at Third and Market streets or if the weather is unfavorable, in the Academy of Music. Mr. Overman will be heard here with great pleasure and Chairman Furlong was fortunate in securing the appointment through the State Chairman.

NORMAN MACK TAKEN ILL

Democratic Chairman Had Collapse, Resulting From Fatigue and Cold.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Norman E. Mack, collapsed tonight as a result of fatigue and a servere cold. He is under the care of a physician and a trained nurse. The illness of Mr. Mack came suddenly and alarmed fellow members of the Democratic committee. Dr. Hammond of the Auditorium Hotel was summoned and he said that Mr. Mack was suffering from overwork and nervous exhaustion. He did not believe the illness serious and intimated that the patient would be able to resume his duties in a few days. Chairman Mack arrived in Chicago from New York yesterday forenoon.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Norman E. Mack, learned of her husband's illness late tonight. After conferring with friends in Chicago by long distance telephone, Mrs. Mack decided to leave for Chicago tomorrow morning.

ANNIS FRIENDS ON JURY

Attorney For Hains Brothers Will Challenge the Grand Jury.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 6.— John F. McIntyre, attorney for Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., and his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, the former held for the murder of William E. Annis, and the latter as an accessory to it, today served notice on District Attorney Derrin, of Queens county, that he would challenge the array of the grand jury empanelled to pass on the cases of his clients.

McIntyre bases his action upon information that a member of the grand jury was a warm personal friend of Annis, and further, according to Mr. McIntyre's informant, that on several occasions since this man's selection as a juror he has been heard to express a determination to do everything in his power to "hang them both," referring to Captain Hains and T. Jenkins Hains.

The political situation at large and particularly the prospects for the State and National ticket in New York, was carefully gone over at a prolonged conference at the White House last night. Those who talked with the President were William L. Ward, the New York member of the Republican committee, Secretary Root, Secretary Cortelyou; Postmaster General Meyer, Secretary Loeb and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon. The conference began about 10 o'clock and lasted until midnight. Secretary Loeb later told the newspapermen that no statement would be given out relative to the conference.

Yale retained the title of golf team champion of the Inter-Collegiate Golf Association by defeating Harvard 14 to 9 yesterday on the links of the Braeburn county club. In the morning singles Yale won from Harvard 9 to 6. In the afternoon foursomes were played, Yale scoring 5 to Harvard's 3.

L. A. Jones, a bookkeeper employed at the Pensacola, Fla., navy yard, who was shot by R. J. Owens, a prominent young man of this city, several weeks ago, died last night. Upon learning of Jones' death, Owens surrendered to the Sheriff and is being held pending the findings of the coroner's jury.

Acting Chairman French reported work in progress on Fourth street bridge and then much valuable time was lost in discussing whether or not certain residents of St. James' Square would be allowed to have some of the old boards from the bridge to lay as a sidewalk on one of the side streets there.

Chairman Ellis, of the Sanitary Committee, read a letter from the manufacturers of the pipe used in the Fifth Ward drainage offering to replace the terra cotta which was unsatisfactory, but declining to pay any of the cost to which the city would be put in taking up and relaying the drainage, made necessary by the defective material used. Alderman King said that something certainly should be done. After some discussion, he moved that the Sanitary Committee notify Messrs. Roger Moore's Sons & Co., that the city will accept the offer of the manufacturers to replace all the defective pipe, the same to be subject to inspection by the City Engineer. Then the Mayor called attention to the fact that it would require $2,000 to dig up and replace the drain and there was no money with which to do the work. Mr. O'Brien favored changing the course of the drains so as to be more economical. Mr. Ellis said the trouble about that would be that the old pipe over the present route would have to be dug up anyway to satisfy the contractor that the pipe was defective and it would be a waste of money to fill up the old excavations and then make new excavations on a new route. The motion of Mr. King to accept the offer of the manufacturers to replace the pipe, subject to inspection by the City Engineer, was carried.

Chairman Ellis further reporting for the Sanitary Committee, read a resolution in regard to the drainage of Macomber's ditch, from Dock to Chesnut streets, appropriating $10,000 for the work and instructing the City Attorney to secure from the property owners the necessary concessions to protect the city. The resolution was unaimously adopted and will go over to the Board of Audit and Finance at its next meeting.

Chairman King, of the Ordinance Committee read the three ordinances proposed at the last meeting, at the request of the Board of Health, in regard to grass and weeds in front of places of property owners, requiring all cattle offered for beef and dairy purposes to be subject to the tuberculin test, and preventing the storage of hides, wool, deer tongue and other offensive material in the residence sections of the city. Dr. Harper, superintendent of health, made a statement in regard to the grass and weeds ordinances but Alderman Wod objected on legal grounds and the matter went over. The cattle ordinance was amended providing that where the tuberculin test is made by the dairy inspector, no fee is charged except the cost of the material used. The ordinance was finally passed, a penalty of $10 being provided for violation. The hide storage ordinance with a similar penalty was also passed, after some discussion.

Chairman Rathjen, of the Market Committee, reported good progress on the repairs to Front street and the completion of work on the fish and huckster market at Fourth street bridge. Chairman Rathjen also reported the annual rental of the public markets, the total rental from Front street market being $2,252 and $97.75 cash premiums. Fourth street market, $668 and $179 premium. Fish and huckster market, Fourth street bridge, $144 and $2.75 premium. Fifth ward market, $244 and $1 premium. The unrented spaces will possibly be rented for about $450 more, which will make a total of $4,038.50 rent and premium from all property.

The clerk was authorized to re-issue fresh meat market licenses to all applicants as read. Application of J. G. Johnson to pay his license quarterly instead of $100 annually was presented by Aldermen King and Northrop, but this involved a change of the tax ordinance and no action was taken.

Request of Louis Goodman, attorney for permission to hold the Elksfest, was unanimously granted.

A communication was read from Capt. W. P. Oldham asking for the improvement of Dock street, between Front and Second.

A communication from the President of the North Carolina Peace Society was read for information.

The Board at 10:30 o'clock adjourned subject to call.

Department Reports.

The reports of all departments were read and ordered on file during the meeting. That of the Chief of Police shows that during September 168 arrests were made, 115 colored and 53 white. Eighteen were sent to the roads for an aggregate of 525 days; 23 to the farm for 690 days and six to the higher court under bonds of $475. During the month $176.85 was paid into the city treasury from costs and $99.65 to the county treasurer in fines and forfeitures for the school fund.

BLACK SHEEP OF HUMAN STRUCTURE

Discussed by Col. Dillingham's Accomplished Lecturer At Fourth and Castle.

SEAT OF HUMAN MISERY

In His Lecture Last Night Mr. Mills Discussed Man's Most Prolific Source of Trouble, and Explained the Damage.

The people of Wilmington are rapidly awakening to the importance of the lectures now being delivered at Col. Frank A. Dillingham's free entertainment at the corner of Fourth and Castle streets. These interesting talks on health, disease and the functions of various organs are of inestimable value to the general public. Last night Col. Dillingham's assistant, Mr. Alva A. Mills, discussed the liver; its duties, diseases and important bearing on the health.

"The liver," said Mr. Mills, "bears the worst name of any organ in the human structure; it becomes deranged on the slightest provocation, and often without any apparent provocation, whatever. However, the liver would not bear such a bad reputation were it not for the fact that it is never content with the damage wrought by its own derangement, but invariably involves other organs, diverting them from their duties, causing complications that frequently make the diagnosis of a partients condition a difficult matter, and causing them to take treatment for one disease, when, in fact, the liver is the real offender. Liver disorders are generally followed by the sympathetic derangement of some other important part of the human machinery; the heart, brain, lungs, stomach and kidneys are affected through the disorder of this organ, and one of the first, and surest, indications of a disordered liver is the derangement of the bowels."

The speaker called attention to the various symptoms of a disordered liver; headaches; a pale, sallow complexion; horrible taste in the mouth; baggy appearance of the skin under the eyes; fever; loss of appetite and inability to sleep, are indications of a disordered liver, and when some other important organ is affected, as is generally the case, the symptoms of this organ's derangement are manifested in connection with those of the liver. Mr. Mills explained the importance of keeping the liver in repair, and clearly pointed out to his audience the manner in which Dillingham's Plant Juice accomplished this important object. The treatment of liver complaints and disorders is one of the primary purposes for which Plant Juice is intended, and its success in combatting this form of disease has never been equaled by any other preparation. These facts have become known to the people of Wilmington and vicinity and has resulted in the receipt of a large number of orders for the Plant Juice remedies through the mails, and a rapidly growing demand at the local drug stores.

The Civil Service Commission yesterday at Washington, issued a statement announcing that Paul W. Cox, a substitute clerk in the Robinson, Illinois, postoffice, has been removed from office and H. B. Thomas, clerk in the Orangeburg, S. C., postoffice severely reprimanded and reduced in salary from $900, to $800 a year, beginning last Thursday, both because of "pernicious political activity."

Robbers have committed a revolting crime in the neighboring village of Slobodze, Russia. They entered the house of a jewish family named Cohen and killed twelve persons in their efforts to get away with a small amount of loot. The murderers were arrested.

For Sore Feet.

"I have found Bucklen's Arnica Salve to be the proper thing to use for sore feet, as well as for healing burns, sores, cuts, and all manner of abrasions," writes Mr. W. Stone, of East Poland, Maine. It is the proper thing too for piles. Try it! Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 25c.

Too Particular.

The finical customer at the fish market pointed at a sign in the window with this inscription upon it: "Anjovis."

"What does that mean?" he asked. "What is an anjovis?"

"Anjovis," answered the proprietor, "are little fishes. Didn't ye never hear of 'em?"

"You mean anchovies, don't you?"

"Not unless you want to buy some, sir," sternly spoke the proprietor. "If a man wants to buy my fish he can call 'em what he durn pleases. When I'm puttin' up signs on my fish I'll call 'em what I durn please, and anybody who don't like 'em don't have to look at 'em, sir."

The finical customer muttered an apology and escaped further trouble by purchasing a dime's worth of smoked herring, a harmless, unassuming fish about whose name there could be no possible dispute.—Chicago Tribune.

The Elephant at Bay.

Twenty years of experience tells me that a whole regiment of lions cannot produce the same moral effect as one twelve foot African tusker when he cocks his big, sail-like ears, draws himself up to his full height and looks at you, letting off at the same time a blood curdling scream, while in all probability others invisible to you are stampeding on all sides with the din and vibration of an earthquake. Surrounded in a dense jungle by a herd of elephants, they seem to block out the whole horizon. One I measured was actually sixteen feet from edge of ear to edge of ear. No wonder my insignificant self seemed to shrivel and my huge express rifle to dwindle into a mere pea shooter. Try as I will on such occasions, I can never overcome my sense of terror and always feel inclined to throw down my elephant gun and run for safety till I drop.—W. G. Fitz-Gerald in Success Magazine.

The Too Faithful Dog.

A party of young Australians wanting a fish dinner filled a bottle with dynamite, attached a waterproof fuse and flung it into a pool in a creek. One of them had a retriever who had been taught to retrieve anything flung into the water, and the bottle had hardly touched the surface before Watch was after it. They yelled at him to leave it alone, but he paid no attention and soon was swimming shoreward with the fizzing bomb in his mouth. The young men ran for their lives, and the poor beast, thinking it all a great joke, came galloping after. He was within twenty yards of the hindmost when there was a stunning crash. Two of the men were thrown down, though, fortunately not badly hurt. But of the unfortunate dog [illegible]

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Mt. Airy News: The revenue force is reported to be busy in the county looking after the brandy distillers. We hear that several stills have been put out of business the past week.

—Rocky Mount Record: Saturday the road bonds for Nash county amounting to $10,000, were sold and the Western German Bank, of Cincinnati, Ohio were the purchasers, paying $10,069.66 for them.

—Evansville, Oct. 5.—It is reported that President Roosevelt has ordered Nicholas Longworth off the stump because of his speech at Rock Island, where he said that Taft should serve eight years, and then be succeeded by Roosevelt for eight years. Whether ordered to do so or not he has left Representative Sherman, with whom he was campaigning, and has returned home.

—Charlotte Observer: The fire committee of the board of public safety is seriously debating the purchase of an automobile chemical wagon for the city fire department for use in the outlying districts. Such a car equipped with a 40-gallon chemical engine would supply a long felt want and save in the course of a year or two many thousands of dollars.

—At a congregational conference of the Church of Holy Communion of Charleston, S. C., Sunday the decision of the vestry to call the Rev. F. H. Harding, rector of Calvary Church at Tarboro, N. C., was ratified and earnest efforts made to secure him as the successor of the Rev. H. J. Mikell, who erecently resigned, to become the rector of Christ Church at Nashville.

—Goldsboro Argus: As the public already knows, the State convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy will be held in this city on October 14, 15 and 16. The assembly hall is to be in the handsome Odd Fellows building and citizens are cordially invited to attend all sessions of the convention.

—Winston Sentinel: The erection of the splendid new building has been a great thing for the local Y. M. C. A. It has put it in a position to do more effective work under better conditions than ever before. The building is an ideal one of its kind, and experts in Y. M. C. A. work pronounce it one of the most complete to be found in the entire country in a city of this size.

—Salisbury, N. C., Oct. 5.—Owing to the prevalance of scarlet fever in this city the Salisbury graded schools will not open until October 15. This action was taken by the school board upon the advice of a number of Salisbury physicians and in order to prevent a spread of the disease, which is in a mild form. The same trouble is being experience at Spencer, though the schools are open.

—Asheville, Oct. 5.—While fighting a fire which broke out here this morning in one of O. D. Revell's big flats on Haywood street, District Passenger Agent James H. Wood, who is also captain of one of the fire hose companies, fell through the burning roof and suffered a broken ankle. Mr. Wood was helped out of the burning building and down a ladder and removed to his home. Nine "flat" houses were burned—loss $50,000.

—Salisbury, Oct. 5.—The outlook of the Yadkin Valley Fair for a record-breaker in attendance is growing more assured every day. Although contrary to his usual manner of exhibiting John L. Sullivan has consented to a booking of himself for the fair. He will engage in daily boxing matches with Jake Kilrain, also famous exprize fighter. Demarest's trained high acting horses will also be one of the free attractions, along with Strobel's air ship.

—Bristol, Tenn., Oct. 5.—A special from Johnson City says: L. A. Bayless, a magistrate, early today attacked his brother-in-law, Berney Bayless, while the latter was asleep in bed at his home in this city and almost literally chopped his head off with an axe. He then attacked Bayless' wife, fatally wounding her. Turning the weapon upon his own wife, who was in the house, he struck her several blows, inflicting probably fatal injuries. Bayless was arrested and half an hour later was found dead in his cell, having hanged himself. Jealousy is said to have been the cause of Bayless' attack.

—Winston Journal: Little Miss Julia Jones, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Lewis Jones, of Walkertown, had one of her arms badly lacerated by a vicious dog yesterday morning at about 8:30 o'clock. The dog was a shepherd and was unknown in the community. His actions in assaulting everything he met sustains the fear that he had rabies. Dr. J. C. Hammock, who was called to attend the little girl was undecided whether the dog had rabies or not and promptly had its head shipped to the Pasteur institute at Raleigh for an analysis. The report of the authorities from that place is waited with anxious interest on the part of the family and friends of the unfortunate girl.

—Greensboro Telegram: Mayor L. J. Brandt, President J. I. Foust, Messrs C. D. Benbow, G. S. Bradshaw and A. M. Scales returned from Washington yesterday where they went with invitations to the President, Admiral Dewey, foreign ministers and other high officials to attend the Peace Congress, which is to be a feature of the Centennial. President Roosevelt received the delegation and expressed much regret at not being able to accept the invitation. He appeared to be deeply interested in the Peace Movement, but stated that he was so pressed with work at present that it would be impossible for him to leave Washington . Admiral Dewey informed the committee that he was deeply interested in the Peace Movement, but he, too, could not attend the sessions.

Not Abashed.

"When I was young," said a lawyer, "my best client was a wealthy old lady noted for saying caustic things about her acquaintances. One morning, when I was staying at her house, she vilified one of her neighbors, named Stamford, without stint.

"By way of changing the subject I proposed to read to her from a volume of lectures I had happened to bring with me. She assented. I started at random and when too late discovered that I was in the middle of a lecture on the government of the tongue.

"I was afraid she would think I had selected it to admonish her, yet I dared not stop for fear of seeming to make the offense more pointed. So on I read to the end, pretty sure that my reading would cost me a client worth two hundred a year to me. But when I ended she said:

"'Thank you, Mr. ——. It is an excellent lecture and would fit my neighbor Stamford to a T.'"

The Conference.

"This is a grave matter," began the undertaker.

"Consequently we want more light thrown upon it," remarked the lamp manufacturer.

"I hope our views will all be in harmony with the occasion," put in the piano maker.

"No pipe dreams," admonished the plumber.

"I hope whatever is said none will take it ill," said the doctor.

"Then we'll all be good natured and not ask cross questions," supplemented the lawyer.

But it was the remark of the baker which broke up the meeting.

"What I want to know, first of all," he declared, "is who is expected to supply the dough?"—Baltimore American.

His Reasoning.

De Tough—I want to return this dog to the gent what owns him. I seen his ad. in the paper. The Lady—How did you guess it was a "gent" that put the ad. in? De Tough—'Cause it said, "No questions asked."—London Pick-Me-Up.

The Trouble.

Grouch — The Rev. Mr. Smiley's scheme to pass around the cigars and let the men smoke during services has proved a failure. Blink—What was the trouble? Grouch—His wife bought the cigars.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Quite Refined.

Mrs. Caller—Are your new neighbors refined? Mrs. Nextdoor—I should say so! They never borrow anything but our silver and cut glass.—Chicago News.

"Flattery is like a fairy tale. Even though one does not believe it, one listens willingly to it."

THE SLEEPING SICKNESS
WHICH MEANS DEATH

How many readers have heard of this terrible disease? It prevails in that far-away country—Africa—especially the Congo district. It is caused by the bite of the tsetse fly. When it bites a person, the sleeping symptoms begin and finally the sufferer sleeps until death occurs.

Contrast this with the peaceful, balmy sleep of health. Is there anything more wearing than to lie awake at night, tossing about, nervous, with cold feet, hot head and mercy knows what else? Short of letting the tsetse fly bite us we would do almost anything for relief. How can we prevent it? Mr. George Hayes, of Union City, Pa., writes: "I had lost my appetite, was all run-down, could not sleep nights. I had tried everything without relief. Vinol was recommended, and to my surprise, it helped me at once; gave me a splendid appetite, and now I sleep soundly."

What Vinol did for Mr. Hayes, it will do for every run-down, nervous and overworked person who cannot sleep.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 6.—The cotton market was higher today on a moderate business with the close steady at a net advance of 6 to 8 points. Sales were estimated at 150,000 bales. The market opened steady at an advance of one point to a decline of 3 points, October being higher on covering while other months were lower owing to easier cables and good weather. October eased off to about the level of other positions right after the opening, but the whole list soon steadied up in spite of Southern selling and during the afternoon showed a net gain of 8 to 10 points. The close was slightly off from the best under realizing but selling was at no time aggressive. Rumors of a better outlook for a settlement of the Manchester troubles and less apprehension regarding the European political situation probably had some influence during the afternoon in addition to which there was talk of small spot offerings from the interior at the decline late in the day and reports of better conditions in domestic spinning circles. The south was a moderate seller here throughout the session and Fall River houses were light buyers during the afternoon.

Receipts at the ports today were 8,663 bales, against 84,840 last week and 53,487 last year; for the week 360,000 bales, against 338,12 last week and 241,529 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans were 9,403 bales, against 7,073 last year and at Houston 22,730 bales against 13,976 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands 9.05; middling gulf 9.30; sales none.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 6.—Whether on account of the Balkan war cloud or for some other reason there was much nervousness in today's stock market. Buying to cover the interest which sold freely in the final break yesterday, was an element in the spurt. The news arriving from abroad by that time also was of a reassuring chacter. The adjournment of the Northern Pacific directors for instance, without declaring that extra dividend which was confidently predicted yesterday, proved disconcerting to a considerate speculative element which had been operating confidently the strength of these predictions. The failure of the Northern Pacific rumors to come true cast suspicion on a number of other rumors which were effective in yesterday's speculation and awakened a fear that they had been prompted simply by speculative manipulation. The weakness in the afternoon was traceable in part to the news of the embarrassment of an important bond house, having connections both in New York and Boston, and to the knowledge of themeasures which had to be taken to conserve the large resources involved. The market ended strong under the influence of the animated dealings in Rock Island preferred.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value were 3,920,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales of stocks today were 748,100 share.

—Fayetteville Observer: Complaint has been filed with Clerk of the Court A. A. McKethan, by Sinclair & Dye, attorneys for the plaintiff, in a suit entitled "L. M. Andrews vs. J. Elwood Cox," in which the plaintiff alleges that he entered into contract with the defendant to manufacture and sell him a certain number of shuttle blocks according to certain specifications; that he has complied with the terms of the contract in every particular, and that the defendant has violated the terms of the contract. Mr. Andrews resides in western Cumberland and says that he manufactured the blocks in good faith and in accordance with the contract, but after repeated effort failed to get them inspected as provided in contract and therefore has said blocks still on hand and no money or market for them and he has been forced into the courts for the protection of his rights.

BRYAN'S TOUR OF IOWA STATE

He Spoke With More Than Usual Fervor and Vigor.

LARGE CROWDS HEAR HIM

Bitter Denunciation of Taft for Refusing to Agree Publicity as to Campaign Funds—Republican Policies Denounced.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Oct. 6.—"I present myself as an example of one who has outlived the venomous attacks of his opponents. You heard me called a demagogue twelve years ago. You saw them bury me and you heard them chant their songs over my grave, and now they have to explain why it happened that I was not dead."

With all the fervor that he could muster, William J. Bryan, facing a vast assemblage in the chautauqua auditorium between Tama and Toleda, Iowa, today delivered himself of this uterance. At no time during the present campaign has he spoken so earnestly or with such vigor. His remark followed a bitter denunciation of Mr. Taft for refusing to agree to a publication of campaign contributions before election. "No honest man and no political party conducting an honest campaign," he declared, "need be afraid of the light."

At Woodward he heaped ridicule on the Republicans by charging them with taking credit for the growth of crops, the shining of the sun, and the bringing of rain. "In fact," he said, "they seize upon anything that they think gives a plausible excuse for voting the Republican ticket."

At Maxwell, he compared the granting of special privileges to a case of poison in the human system. "There has been a poison at work in our politics", he declared and today its manifestations are such that I believe the American people are ready to apply the remedy and that poison is the poison of privileges, the poison of favoritism. Our Government has been run too largely in the interest of the favored."

Drawing large, cheering crowds all day in the course of his travels through the State, the Democratic candidate nver in beter form, hurled defiance at his opponents and challenged them to meet his arguments. Fifteen speeches and handshaking constituted his day's work, the concluding speech being made here tonight in the auditorium which was filled to overflowing. Previously to going to the hall he was serenaded at the hotel, and he addressed an immense throng from the balcony. The keynote of his remarks here tonight was that Republican policies meant disaster, while Democratic policies meant prosperity. On this subject he said:

"The Democratic party is absolutely necessary to restore prosperity. The Republican party has had its chances and it has failed. We are in the midst of a depression for which natural conditions furnish to excuse. Artificial conditions are responsible for the present business prostration, and those artificial conditions originated in Republican policies. The business failures for the nine months ended on September 30th were 11,943 in number, and the liabilities amounted to $179,000,00. It means that if the assets are worth, in fact, the amount at which they are placed, there will still be a loss of $56,000,000 to account for."

"This tremendous loss comes at a time when crops are reasonably good and when nature has not withheld her bounty. It comes when the Republicans are in complete control. They have a President whom they eulogize in their platform, a Senate completely in the hands of the Republican party and a Republican House of Representatives dominated by the despotic Speaker. We can assume, therefore, that they have done everything they could do consistently under their policies to prevent a panic, and yet the panic is here. It comes, too, when we have a tariff so high that even the Republicans promise unequivocally to revise it immediately and Mr. Taft has ventured the opinion that the revision will probably be downward. What does it promise to do for the protection of the public? What policies has it that look to a restoration of prosperity?

"In fact the failures of the last nine months exceed in number the failures of the corresponding nine months of 1893, and the difference between par and the liabilities is greater this year than it was in 1893, although the total amount of the liabilities was greater in 1893 than this year. But it must be remembered that the McKinley tariff was still in force in 1893. It was in force until the summer of 1894. The Wilson bill was not passed until the summer of 1894. The failures that year were not as great, either in number or in the amount of liabilities as they are this year. The failures of 1895 were not as great in amount and the total liabilities as they are this year. The failures in 1896 were not equal to the failures of this year in number or in amount of liabilities and yet in 1886, the Republicans were talking about a Democratic panic and promising prosperity.

Do the business men want business unsettled? Do the business men want an extension of this agitation? Do they want business to be unsettled by four years of discussion over tariff sales? If the Democratic party wins there will be an immediate reduction of the tariff which will satisfy public demand and remove the tariff question from politics for a number of years. A Democratic victory means prosperity, to all the people a prosperity that will be permanent. It means the remedying of abuses; until abuses are remedied there can be no peace and the sooner abuses are remedied, the more easily can the remedy be applied.

KERN TOURING NORTH CAROLINA

Democratic Nominee Made Several Speeches and is Greeted by Hundreds.

GREENSBORO WELCOMES HIM

Delivered Notable Speech at Historic Guilford Battle Ground—Recognized Guilford as Birthplace of Speaker Cannon.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 6.—John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for the Vice Presidency, in a speech here tonight declared William Jennings Bryan to be a second Andrew Jackson to rebuke the modern William Biddle. "In Jackson's time", he said "there was a condition in the financial affairs of the country in a measure like that existing today. A banker William Biddle, a power in the country, attempted to dictate the policy to be pursued by President Jackson, and threatened financial disaster to the country. "You tell me that you have power to bring disaster upon the people? Then you have more power than any man should have and we will take it from you," was Jackson's answer," said Mr. Kern.

"You have a second Jackson in William Jennings Bryan to rebuke the Rockefellers and the Harrimans and the Coreys."

Mr. Kern related the alleged domination of the financial world by a hundred men and continued, "You men meet the situation as fearlessly as did a handful of your fathers meet the attempted overriding of their liberties on Guilford battlefield a hundred and twenty years ago.

Mr. Kern from a newspaper quoting William E. Corey, president of the steel corporation, aproving the candidacy of Mr. Taft. He is an ideal candidate for Corey," he said, " because the Coreys and men like him want to be let alone. Mr. Roosevelt says the effect of great corporations like that of which Corey is the head, breed immorality. They do; they breed Coreys and Harrimans and Leeds.

"When the Democratic ticket was nominated the President of the steel trust returned from Europe", continued the speaker, "and asked who was nominated. 'Who's Kern?' he asked, when told who were the candidates. Let us hope that on the 4th of March he will find out who Kern is." The nominee spoke earlier in the day at Guilford battleground. He will leave tomorrow morning for Winston-Salem.

Grensboro, N. C., Oct. 6.—On the historic field of Guilford court house, three miles from this city, where was fought the revolutionary battle that led to the surrender at Yorktown, John W. Kern, the Democratic vice Presidential candidate, spoke to a large crowd at a Democratic picnic and barbecue today.

Mr. Kern referred in his speech to the fact that the old battlefield is within three miles of the birthplace of Joseph S. Cannon, speaker of the National house of representatives. Mr. Kern reached Greensboro from Asheville shortly before noon and was immediately conveyed to the scene of the day's celebration by automobile. He was accompanied by Colonel James Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, who also spoke.

On the way from Asheville the nominee talked briefly from the rear of the train to groups of people at Old Fort Morganton, Hickory, Newton, Statesville and Salisbury.

"This battleground," said Mr. Kern, "is dedicated to the sacrifice that was made upon it. Our fathers who fought here for your fathers were the fathers of our independence, who tendered their lives to prevent the fastening of tyranny upon the country, and to establish the right of free Government and of individual liberty of men. The mere taxation levied against us by the king through his prime minister, Lord North was insignificant. Your people could have paid that and would have paid it if it had been just. It was the principle asserted by the English kings of the right to levy tax that was unjust and the enforcement of it was tyranny. To oppose this, in the language of the great Adams, you pledged your lives, your property and your sacred honor. We have the same contest today. Then it was against kings and rulers, now it is a fight against rulers, who rule like kings under the name of a Republic to taken off an unjust tax. Near this spot Speaker of House Joseph G. Cannon was born. It were well for him to have drawn lessons from the sacred example of this sacrifice and learn if he as the Speaker of the House shall continue to put his power as a bar to the relief of the people from trust oppression, he will awaken a revolution of thought that will overthrow the whole system of inquiry which has been established.

THE SITUATION IN BULGARIA

A Statement From The Bulgarian Minister of Foreign Affairs.

HIS SIDE OF THE QUESTION

The Causes Which Led to the Declaration of Her Independence of Turkish Rule—Driven to This Action—Approval.

M. Poprickoff, the Bulgarian minister of foreign affairs has sent a cable dispatch to the Associated Press giving an authoritative explanation of the Bulgarian situation, in reply to a cablegram requesting an official statement of the facts. It is as follows:

"Tirnovo, Bulgaria, October 6, 1908. Pursuant to the treaty of Berlin, Bulgaria has been a principality, tributary to Turkey. Many years ago Bulgaria acquired the right to have diplomatic representatives accredited to all the great powers. She maintained such a representative at Constantinople. Until recently the diplomatic representative of Bulgaria to Turkey was invited, with the other members of the diplomatic corps in Constantinople, to all official ceremonies, receptions and dinners. On the 12th of last September, the occasion being the anniversary of the Sultan's birthday, the Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs gave a dinner to the diplomatic corps to which the diplomatic representative of Bulgaria was not invited. Steps were at once taken to secure an explanation of this neglect. The Ottoman Government replied that the Bulgarian representative had no right to expect an invitation to this diplomatic dinner as Bulgaria was a Vassal State of Turkey.

"There then followed a diplomatic conflict between Bulgaria and Turkey. Bulgaria considered that Turkey was not respecting the rights acquired by her, and she desired to defend these rights. This was the first incident.

"The Oriental Railroad Company operates 300 kilometres, (186 miles) of line in Bulgarian territory. The same company operates also about 1,000 kilometres, (621 miles) of line in Turkish territory. A recent strike on the property of the Oriental Railroad Company in Turkey spread at the same time to Bulgarian territory. This strike was decided upon and directed from outside of Bulgaria. Following an understanding with the representative of the Oriental Railroad Company, the Bulgarian Government took over temporarily the running of the road. The strike, however, spread until the national security of Bulgaria was threatened, and the people became discontented with the state of affairs.

"It then became the duty of the Bulgarian Government to continue running the road and we asked the company to sell us its rights in Bulgaria, in accordance with an understanding reached between the Government and the company ten years ago.

"Turkey then pretended that the line was her property and in a note the Turkish Government demanded that the line be returned to the company. The Bulgarian Government replied that it would treat only with the company. This was the second conflict.

"This situation imposed upon the Bulgarian Government the necessity of fixing definitely the relations between the principality and Turkey. The new regime in Turkey made it imperative for Bulgaria to maintain the best of relations with her neighbors especially as this fictitious condition of vassalage created feelings of suspicion and distrust which might at any moment result in disturbing the peace of the Balkans.

"Bulgaria understood clearly that Austria-Hungary soon would annex the occupied provinces of Bosnia and and Herzegovinia, and the general situation was such that Bulgaria was obliged, without delay to declare her complete independence.

"Consequence, yesterday, October 5th Bulgaria was proclaimed an independent Kingdom and Prince Ferdinand accepted the title of King of Bulgaria. This act was communicated to all the great powers by proclamations declaring that Bulgaria was independent. Bulgaria has no aggressive aims. She has given regular reform to a situation that already existed defacto.

"We believe that the powers will approve the proclamation of Bulgaria to be an independent Kingdom. This act need in no way trouble the peace of Europe or the Palkans. The powers who desire peace in Europe and particularly those who desire the maintenance of the new regime in Turkey will be the more convinced of the truth of what I say as soon as they are satisfied that it is Bulgaria's purpose, by this act, to aid in the strengthening of this regime.

(Signed.) "POPRIKOFF,
"Minister of Foreign Affairs."

Emperor's Proclamation.

Vienna, Ooct. 6.—The proclamation of Emperor Francis Joseph will be is sued tomorrow declaring that the Austro-Hungarian rights of sovereignty and succession have been extended over Bosnia and Herzegovina. The new imperial provinces will be informed in the same proclamation that they will be given a constitution and a special diet.

The proclamation says: "When a generation ago our troops crossed the boundaries of your countries you were assured that they came not as enemies but as friends, with a firm resolution to put a stop to the ills from which your fatherland for so many years so severely suffered. This promise was given in a solemn moment and was righteously kept. It was the steadfast endeavor of our government in peaceful observance of the law and by vigorous efforts to lead the land to a happier future.

"To our great pleasure we can say that the seed which was then scattered in the furrow of ploughed soil has come up richly. You yourselves must feel the benefits of a situation whereby order and security have taken the place of force and oppression Trade and communications are steadily spreading; the civilizing influence of a wider education has made itself felt, and every man may enjoy the fruits of his labors under the protection of a well ordered government?

"We consider it our most solemn duty to move forward along this path, and with that goal before our eyes we are of the opinion that the times has come to give the inhabitants of both countries fresh proof of our trust in their political maturity."

Peace Conference Assured.

Paris, Oct. 6.—An international conference to consider the Bulgarian situation is now assured, according to the statement made here tonight. It will be propesd by Great Britain France and Russia, acting together, instead of by one power. These three powers are in complete accord on the principle of an immediate conference; Italy is in favor of it, and even Germany is expected to adhere to the proposal.

CONGRESSMAN SIBLEY REPLIES

Defends Himself Against Charges Made By Hearst.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 6.—Former Congressman Joseph B. Sibley of Pennsylvania tonight made public a letter in defense of himself in connection with references made to him in recent speeches of William R. Hearst. It was in part as follows:

"For thirty years past I have been more or less closely associated in business with Mr. John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company and during the major portion of this period I have talked with him and written to him with the freedom and frankness due to a business associate and a personal friend. My connection with the Standard Oil Company was known before I entered public life and the three president's of our nation during my term of service were familiar with the fact of my business connection with the Standard Oil Company as were my friends in the Senate and my colleagues in the House of Representatives.

"No colleague with whom I have had the honor to serve as a member of the greatest legislation body in the world will charge me with having ever performed or with attempting to perform any unworthy public action. While I am conscious of mistakes which reflect on one's judgment and not upon his honor. Mr. Hearst has copies, I believe of every letter written by me to Mr. Archbold from 1900 to very nearly the close of my term of public service. I therefore, request that he will do me the justice to publish them one and all in their entirety and in their orderly and natural sequence, giving dates of letters, and not separating text from context."

GERMAN DAY IN PHILADELPHIA.

Yesterday's Celebration in Honor of Memory of German Immigrants.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—Another day of cloudless skies, of brilliant sunshine and crisp autumnal weather marked the continuance of the celebration of Philadelphia's founders' week. The entire morning was given to the German-American citizens who paid homage to the memory of the first immigrant from Germany to American shores. This part of the celebration hadits center in Germantown, where there was a parade many miles long and where the cornerstone of the monument to be erected in honor of Francis Danil Pastorius in Vernon Park was unveiled with appropriate ceremony. Pres. Roosevelt sent felicitations; the German embassy at Washington was represented by an attache; Governor Stuart paid Pennsylvania's tribute, and Mayor Reyburn spoke in eulogy of the German residents of the city. Prominent German-Americans from all sections of the country attended.

The feature of the afternoon was a parade down Broad street of the police, firemen and letter carriers of th city, the State constabulary, and volunteer fire companies from many of the neighboring towns and villages. The idea of historic significance, prevailing in the entire scope of the founders' week celebration, was carried out in display of the police and fire departments.

CHURCH GATHERING

Two Religious Bodies in Session in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 6.—The United Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the South began a five days' session here tonight. The opening services were held in the Lutheran church of the Ascension. Rev. A. G. Voight, of Mount Pleasant, S. C., dean of the theological seminary of that place and president of the Synod, preached the synodical sermon. The sermon was followed by Communion. Tomorrow the regular business session of the Synod will be held.

Tomorrow morning at St. Paul's Episcopal church the Woman's Missionary Conference will open with a business session. There will be three sessions a day through Thursday. There are about 200 delegates to the two gatherings. They represent all the Southern States.

With a substantial and representative delegation representing every State and Territory West of the Mississipp river, the nineteenth trans-Mississippi Congress opened yesterday at San Francisco. The proceedings of the morning session apart from the address of President Smith, Abiline, Kas., consisted largely of addresses conveying to the visitors assurances of a cordial welcome. National interest in the Congress was indicated by messages received from the President of the United States the Presidential nominees of the Democratic and Republican parties.
